DiSalle Pledges 'Clean, Decent' Administration

Ohio Governor-Elect Lays It on Line to Democratic Chiefs

TOLEDO (AP)—Tuesday, Ohio Gov.-elect Michael V. DiSalle told about 500 visitors to his hometown he is going to have a decent, honorable four-year administration—no matter what.

DiSalle delivered his lay-it-on-the-line lecture at the same meeting he appointed William L. Coleman, the state Democratic chairman, as his patronage czar.

The policy meeting of the 88 county chairmen, the several hundred state central and executive committee members—wives and husbands included—was one of the biggest and most businesslike held by Ohio Democrats in recent years.

The full-day meeting gave every indication DiSalle is preparing to organize both his administration and the state's Democratic Party for efficient operation.

And Coleman indicated even greater organization and financial effort to extend Democratic gains beyond last month's landslide.

DiSalle told his party's leaders that he plans to be a full-time governor. He will accept no speaking engagements before late next summer which require travel; he will not get involved in ceremonial functions; he will attend no ribbon cuttings.

The reason: "I have a lot of work to do. We are facing some of the most serious problems in state government in 20 years, most of them financial. There is a legislative program to be drawn up and enacted."

The governor-elect disclosed he is dissolving the Toledo law firm of DiSalle, Green and Haddad with which he has been associated since 1947.

His lecture to the party leaders who will be making recommendations of job-hungry Democrats for state positions ran something like this:

"We must modify the old 'to the victor belongs the spoils' theory to read: 'to the victor belongs the responsibility of administering the affairs of government in the best interests of both the people and the party.'"

"Well-organized political parties are essential to the functioning of government. But it is essential that the party be kept clean and respectable."

"Be certain that those who would subvert or corrupt our party do not infiltrate this administration."

"We can't do a good job with bad people. I know there will be disappointed people."

"We intend to run credit checks on all candidates for major appointments, just as if they had applied for million-dollar insurance policies. Even that is no guarantee against delinquency. The only thing we could do in such a case is to remove the offender."

"Some county chairmen say want recognition. There are many ways to define recognition, but the only recognition we give you chairmen will be along decent and proper lines."

The roster of visitors to the unusual party-policy meeting was a long one.

It included Cuyahoga County engineer Albert S. Porter, an unsuccessful candidate against DiSalle for the nomination for governor last May. There appeared to be increasing signs he might be DiSalle's choice for highway director.

$25,000 Fire Destroys Barn On Lapp Farm

S. O. Lapp's barn on the Washington-Waterloo Rd. didn't have much chance of being saved when it started burning at about 6 p. m. Tuesday. An estimated $25,000 fire of unknown origin destroyed the large number of straw bales, 1,500 bushels of oats, 500 bushels of corn and 12 pieces of farm equipment with the speed of a brush fire.

Firemen mopping up the burning barn and the other buildings nearby by the time they arrived at the scene.

Tenant George Haakenbracht discovered flames shooting from the roof but by the time the firemen could get to the scene, the roof had caved in.

They managed to save the corn crib about 50 feet away from the burning building and another barn. There was no livestock in the barn when the fire started.

Slippery Roads Close 2 Schools

Weather Quirks Make Driving Hazardous

Fayette County residents were fogbound when they awoke Wednesday morning and two small areas were icebound as weather quirks caused the closing of Marion and Bloomingburg schools due to slippery roads.

Although early morning temperatures in Washington C. H. hovered around the 36-degree mark, icy roads in the school areas and especially the Washington-Waterloo Rd. which was close to impassable, made drivers slow down to very low speeds to stay on the roads.

All other schools in the district were open and roads were clear, except for the fog.

The mercury slid to 19 in Washington C. H. sometime during the night but by 8 a. m. it had climbed back to 36, two degrees above Tuesday's high, Coyt Stoekey, local weather observer, said.

But the comparatively warm snap was predicted to end with snow forecast late Wednesday.

Youthful Escapees Nabbed by Deputies

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—Sheriff's deputies today captured the second of two escapees from Columbus State School.

Robert Edward Bronson, 17, of nearby Pedro, was picked up as he slept in a car on a Lawrence County road.

He was sent to the Columbus institution from Boys Industrial School, Lancaster, where he was committed last April on charges of armed robbery, breaking and entering and carrying a concealed weapon.

His companion in Saturday night's escape, Raymond Fultz, 19, of Toledo, was arrested at the home of Bronson's mother in Ironton Sunday night. Bronson fled through a rear door.

State Checks Readied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gasoline tax receipts will be distributed to municipalities a week early this month to help meet the cost of snow removal. Checks totaling nearly $3 million will go out Wednesday.

Big 'Satellites' Planned by U. S. For California

1,300-Pound Shot Booked; Some 'Moons' To Carry Animals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will begin firing a series of big satellites from the new Vandenberg Base in California in the next few weeks. Some of them will carry mice and monkeys.

The Defense Department's Advanced Research Projects Agency announced today that the "Project Discoverer" program will try to put up a 1,300-pound device in its first launching attempt "late this year or early next year."

At least a dozen satellite launchings will be attempted, as fast as one a month, Roy Johnson, ARPA director, told newsmen.

Johnson also said that an attempt will be made next year to recover a capsule from a satellite, bringing it back through the atmosphere.

He said that the program, for the present, does not include sending up a man.

The satellites launched from Vandenberg will be aimed in a southerly direction over the Pacific Ocean. Their orbit would be around the world over the North and South Poles.

The first attempts will be aimed to put the big satellites up to relative low altitudes of perhaps a few hundred miles. ARPA estimates they might make two or three passes around the world or perhaps stay up for a week.

The first Discoverer vehicle will be a two-stage rocket. The booster will be a Thor IRBM produced by Douglas Aircraft Co.

The second stage, the announcement said, is a new vehicle produced by the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. and powered by a Bell-Hustler engine.

This latter engine is a liquid fuel rocket.

"The first Discoverer-launched satellites are expected to weigh approximately 1,300 pounds," the announcement said. "This includes the weight of the second-stage vehicle which will orbit as an integral part of the satellite after burnout."

Portable A-Reactor Is Put Into Use

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP)—A new type portable atomic reactor was dedicated at the National Reactor Testing Station Tuesday. Officials promptly put it to practical use, substituting atomic power for the commercial electricity that had lighted the building housing the new reactor.

Known as the Argonne Low Power Reactor, the new atomic plant is the first working model of a prototype designed for easy shipment by air to remote areas. Its dedication marked the 16th anniversary of the world's first controlled nuclear chain reaction, which occurred Dec. 2, 1942, at the University of Chicago Stadium.

FIRE SWEEPS MOVIE STAR COLONY

Fire Experts Press Chicago School Probe; Parents Prepare Burial Rites

CHICAGO (AP) — While anguished parents prepared to bury their 87 children who died in Chicago's worst school fire, the puzzling cause of the fire still plagued investigators.

That it started in the base of a stairwell in the northeast corner of the brick Our Lady of Angels

School was generally agreed upon. The why and the how were theories.

One police arson expert theorized a cigarette flipped carelessly into a pile of trash, a wastebasket or papers may have sparked the smoke was one possibility, he said. Flames might have smoldered for an hour, said Sgt. Drewe Brown and then whooshed up the staircase with horrifying speed.

He emphasized it only was theory.

Arson was discounted, but not ruled out. "We always suspect arson where there is a loss of life and we cannot establish the cause of the fire," Fire Commissioner Robert J. Quinn said.

Three nuns died in the fire along with the children.

Three child victims, all girls, still lay unidentified in the Cook County Morgue.

The parents of three missing girls grimly maintained the dead were not their daughters.

Still missing were Bernice Clchoki, 12, Lucille Filipponio, 9, and Diane Santangelo, 9.

Morgue officials said dental records of the three will be checked against dental characteristics of the dead.

Plans for a mass funeral were announced by church officials.

Twenty-five priests visited homes of the victims seeking approval for such a service and burial Friday.

Families were told they can make separate funeral and burial arrangements if they wish.

In the hospitals the fight for the living went on.

Seventy-five of the injured still required hospitalization. Two of them were nuns and one a school janitor. Eleven children were in critical condition.

Their battle was made easier by the overwhelming response to appeals for blood and even skin for grafts. Calls from prospective blood donors across the country were so great that many were told to call later in the week and even after.

While the causes of the blaze remained unknown, some fire experts came forth with explanations for the terrific speed of the blaze. So fast did it spread that dozens of children were trapped and killed in their classrooms.

Fire Commissioner Quinn said, "When a fire gets going it moves faster than you can run."

In Boston, the National Fire Protection Assn., said open doors appeared to be the major cause of death. Association engineers reported heavy wooden doors on the second floor were open, permitting fire and hot gases to spread quickly.

First floor doors were closed, the investigators were quoted as saying, protecting classrooms there. Some 1,300 students were in the U-shaped building when the fire broke out.

Civil Right Unit Opposition Seen

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — New obstacles foreshadowing a possible clash between state and federal courts stood in the path of the Civil Rights Commission today as it sought access to registration records for next week's hearing on Negro voting.

Subpoenas demanding all available voter registration files dating back to Jan. 1, 1955, have been served on officials in at least three south Alabama counties.

The new federal agency's first public hearing since its creation by Congress more than a year ago opens here Monday.

Resistance in one form or another threatened, meanwhile, to keep the contested voter registration files out of the commission's hands unless it gets a federal court order to produce them.

In two of the three counties, a federal judge, if asked to order local officials to surrender the voting records, would find his authority challenged by that of a state court.

All existing registration files in Barbour and Bullock counties, where Negroes outnumber white residents, have been impounded by Circuit Judge George Wallace, the same jurist who once threatened to jail any federal agent attempting to investigate jury rolls in his court.

Wallace took custody of the records in both counties on almost identical petitions asking for grand jury investigations.

The petitions charged that unqualified voters have been registered in Barbour County by misrepresenting themselves to the Board of Registrars, and that others tried unsuccessfully to register as voters in Bullock County by the use of fraud.

Civil rights agents, since their arrival here last weekend, also subpoenaed the files of the Macon County Board of Registrars, which refused last month to surrender them willingly.

Woodland Blaze Destroys Homes, Routs Hundreds

Crews Lose Fight To Save Plush Residential Area

MALIBU BEACH, Calif. (AP) — An explosive brush fire cut a black swath of destruction through the mountain playground of Hollywood movie stars today, destroying 26 homes, menacing scores more and routing hundreds of families.

Stopped by the Pacific Ocean, the flames turned their fury toward thickly settled Malibu Canyon, at the mouth of which lies the beach colony that has long been a favorite residential area for movie people.

Firemen battled fiercely through the night in an effort to keep the blaze out of Malibu Canyon, but lost the fight just before dawn when flames 10 feet high roared over the top of the last ridge and bore down on the homes a half-mile below.

The $50,000 home of actor Lew Ayres was one of the houses destroyed as the flames raced eight miles across the Malibu Hills to the sea, driven by dry, gale-force winds.

Property on ranches owned by actors Ronald Reagan and Bob Hope was damaged. Actor Glen Ford evacuated his flame-threatened ranch, trucking out several head of prize cattle with him.

The famed film colony of Malibu Beach lay only a mile from the leaping flames and residents stood by through the night playing water on their homes. One of them was actor Jackie Coogan, who canceled a television appearance Tuesday night to watch over his house.

Fire officials said the blaze may be worse than the mammoth Malibu fire two years ago that burned for five days, blackening 42,000 acres and destroying 99 homes. Some of the same ground is being burned over now, but most of the fire is in the hills running down to the picturesque seashore about 20 miles from Los Angeles.

Eight firemen were burned when a sudden wind shift sent the blaze roaring back at them. They fought through to safety but were hospitalized with first-degree burns on their faces and hands.

Evacuation centers were set up in three schools along the ocean side of the hills. More than 150 persons were bedded down in them.

"This thing has gone crazy," said County Fire Chief Keith Klinger, who is directing more than 1,000 men on the fire lines.

A prolonged dry spell that left hillside brush bone-dry, a sudden rise in the wind, and a spark from an unknown source combined to touch off the fire at noon Tuesday along a main highway eight miles inland from the Pacific.

The possibility that an arsonist set the fire is being investigated.

Prisoners Mingle With Visitors, Flee

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Two prisoners mingled with visitors and walked to freedom out the front door of the Winnebago County jail Tuesday.

The escape route from the fourth floor jail at one point brought the escapees face-to-face with an assistant state's attorney in the state's attorney's office.

But the fugitives, wearing street clothes, convinced an official they were helping the janitor.

Their escape cost jailer Roy Munson, 62, his job.

Sheriff Iver W. Johnson said Munson was careless and insubordinate in allowing Shockey and Lee to wriggle their way into the group of visitors.

Miami Trace Officials Concerned with 'Distractions'

Rural Board Probes 'Bus Followers'; Drivers Told To Call Patrol, Sheriff

A rash of reports that rural schools buses have been followed during the past week "by unauthorized persons", has prompted the Miami Trace Board of Education to issue a statement for the guidance of its drivers.

The instructions, which include a request that bus drivers immediately ask the State Highway Patrol or the sheriff's office for an investigation of such incidents, are included in a resolution placed on the board's minutes which states that the shadowing of school vehicles is creating an unnecessary source of mental stress for students and drivers alike.

While the board takes the official stand that the reason for following the buses is known only to the persons engaged and that the surveillance was without official knowledge of the board and without warning or notification, testimony of drivers at a special board session Tuesday night indicated that some of the persons following the buses identified themselves and said that they were making a survey of bus routes.

The names of 10 local residents, all of whom have been in opposition to Miami Trace official policies, was turned over to the board as taking part in the bus-trailing operation.

BOARD PRESIDENT Taylor Groff told the drivers and a group of parents that information on bus routes, schedules and numbers of pupils transported is open at all times to the public at the Miami Trace board office at Wilson school.

Both Groff and J. Herbert Perrill, vice president of the board, said the board's concern with the matter is not with the fact that certain individuals may wish to make a survey of bus routes but with their approach to the matter and with the effect it may have on the safety and welfare of the children involved.

"School bus operation is hazardous at best," Perrill said, "and we want nothing to interfere with the excellent safety record established by our drivers."

Board members said that a survey of bus routes by a member of the State Board of Education a week ago was within that official's province and remarked that he promptly notified Walter Boyer, executive head of the Miami Trace schools, of what was in progress.

The bus-following operation has been going on for a week, it was pointed out. On one day, all 11 buses going to Jeffersonville were followed by cars — some of whose drivers were known and some of them were not, drivers said.

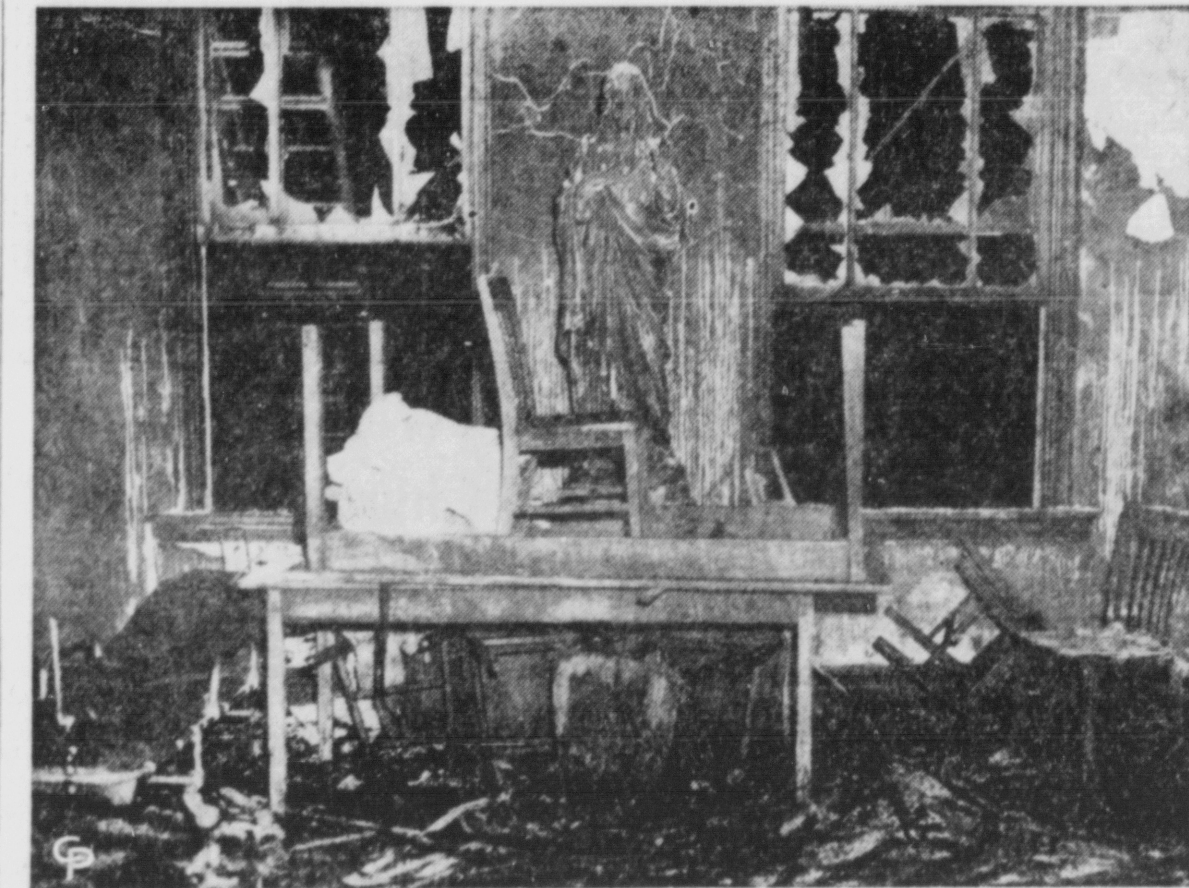

THE STATEMENT approved by the board said:

"After due investigation and con-

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Two tractor-trailers and a passenger automobile were damaged badly by fire today in a series of collisions at a bridge in Foster, Wren County.

Khrush Described As Push-Button Policy-Maker

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is a five push-button man. Policy making is his prime effort.

These sidelights on the Soviet Premier and Communist party boss came out of his eight-hour interview Monday with Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.).

"He is a well-informed man on anything you want to talk about," Humphrey told a news conference Tuesday.

"He would put many of our organization politicians, including some of the best ones, to shame."

"He obviously looks upon himself not as an administrator but as a policy maker. He has five push buttons on his desk and I believe he uses them."

"He doesn't bother with small details, but gives his subordinates authority to carry out that policy."

Ohio Supreme Court Rules Supplemental Benefits Illegal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court ruled today against simultaneous payment of supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) and state jobless compensation.

The 5-2 decision reversed Mahoning County courts that held Ohio law permits payment of SUB and state benefits at the same time.

Lower courts upset state administration rulings that SUB payments are remuneration under Ohio law and must be deducted from state jobless benefits.

The AFL-CIO Steelworkers challenged the rulings in a suit against four steel firms and James T. Tichenor, head of the State Bureau of Unemployment Compensation. Joseph P. Posey, Youngstown steelworker, sued Tichenor in the second test case.

As the decision came, the Ohio AFL-CIO Council issued this statement: "Naturally, we are disappointed at the court's ruling against supplemental unemployment benefits."

"But, since the companies involved have agreed that their laid-off employees are entitled to extra financial assistance during their periods of unemployment and are willing to give them this assistance. We are hopeful that the upcoming session of the Legislature will take whatever steps are necessary to make the payment possible."

"We again emphasize the point that the payment of SUB does not cost the taxpayers one cent."

Unionists estimated that the decision prevented distribution of about 25 million dollars in SUB payments. The decision said that SUB benefits are not expressly authorized by statute, as appellants contended. The court added that the BUC administrator has express statutory authority to require repayment of excessive benefits received.

Big 'Satellites' Planned by U. S. For California

1,300-Pound Shot Booked; Some 'Moons' To Carry Animals

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States will begin firing a series of big satellites from the new Vandenberg Base in California in the next few weeks. Some of them will carry mice and monkeys.

The Defense Department's Advanced Research Projects Agency announced today that the "Project Discoverer" program will try to put up a 1,300-pound device in its first launching attempt "late this year or early next year."

Three nuns died in the fire along with the children.

Three child victims, all girls, still lay unidentified in the Cook County Morgue.

The parents of three missing girls grimly maintained the dead were not their daughters.

Still missing were Bernice Cichocki, 12, Lucille Filippino, 9, and Diane Santangelo, 9.

Morgue officials said dental records of the three will be checked against dental characteristics of the dead.

Plans for a mass funeral were announced by church officials.

Twenty-five priests visited homes of the victims seeking approval for such a service and burial Friday.

Families were told they can make separate funeral and burial arrangements if they wish.

In the hospitals the fight for the living went on.

Seventy-five of the injured still required hospitalization. Two of them were nuns and one a school janitor. Eleven children were in critical condition.

First floor doors were closed, the investigators were quoted as saying, protecting classrooms there. Some 1,300 students were in the U-shaped building when the fire broke out.

Civil Right Unit Opposition Seen

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—New obstacles foreshadowing a possible clash between state and federal courts stood in the path of the Civil Rights Commission today as it sought access to registration records for next week's hearing on Negro voting.

Subpoenas demanding all available voter registration files dating back to Jan. 1, 1955, have been served on officials in at least three south Alabama counties.

The new federal agency's first public hearing since its creation by Congress more than a year ago opens here Monday.

Resistance in one form or another threatened, meanwhile, to keep the contested voter registration files out of the commission's hands unless it gets a federal court order to produce them.

In two of the three counties, a federal judge, if asked to order local officials to surrender the voting records, would find his authority challenged by that of a state court.

All existing registration files in Barbour and Bullock counties, where Negroes outnumber white residents, have been impounded by Circuit Judge George Wallace, the same jurist who once threatened to jail any federal agent attempting to investigate jury rolls in his court.

Wallace took custody of the records in both counties on almost identical petitions asking for grand jury investigations.

The petitions charged that unqualified voters have been registered in Barbour County by misrepresenting themselves to the Board of Registrars, and that others tried unsuccessfully to register as voters in Bullock County by the use of fraud.

Civil rights agents, since their arrival here last weekend, also subpoenaed the files of the Macon County Board of Registrars, which refused last month to surrender them willingly.

Woodland Blaze Destroys Homes, Routs Hundreds

Crews Lose Fight To Save Plush Residential Area

MALIBU BEACH, Calif. (AP)—An explosive brush fire cut a black swath of destruction through the mountain playground of Hollywood movie stars today, destroying 26 homes, menacing scores more and routing hundreds of families.

Stopped by the Pacific Ocean, the flames turned their fury toward thickly settled Malibu Canyon, at the mouth of which lies the beach colony that has long been a favorite residential area for movie people.

Firemen battled fiercely through the night in an effort to keep the blaze out of Malibu Canyon, but lost the fight just before dawn when flames 10 feet high roared over the top of the last ridge and bore down on the homes a half-mile below.

The $50,000 home of actor Lew Ayres was one of the houses destroyed as the flames raced eight miles across the Malibu Hills to the sea, driven by dry, gale-force winds.

Property on ranches owned by actors Ronald Reagan and Bob Hope was damaged. Actor Glen Ford evacuated his flame-threatened ranch, trucking out several head of prize cattle with him.

The famed film colony of Malibu Beach lay only a mile from the leaping flames and residents stood by through the night playing water on their homes. One of them was actor Jackie Coogan, who canceled a television appearance Tuesday night to watch over his house.

Fire officials said the blaze may be worse than the mammoth Malibu fire two years ago that burned for five days, blackening 42,000 acres and destroying 99 homes. Some of the same ground is being burned over now, but most of the fire is in the hills running down to the picturesque seashore about 20 miles from Los Angeles.

Eight firemen were burned when a sudden wind shift sent the blaze roaring back at them. They fought through to safety but were hospitalized with first-degree burns on their faces and hands.

Evacuation centers were set up in three schools along the ocean side of the hills. More than 150 persons were bedded down in them.

"This thing has gone crazy," said County Fire Chief Keith Klinger, who is directing more than 1,000 men on the fire lines.

A prolonged dry spell that left hillside brush bone-dry, a sudden rise in the wind, and a spark from an unknown source combined to touch off the fire at noon Tuesday along a main highway eight miles inland from the Pacific.

The possibility that an arsonist set the fire is being investigated.

Prisoners Mingle With Visitors, Flee

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—Two prisoners mingled with visitors and walked to freedom out the front door of the Winnebago County jail Tuesday.

The escape route from the fourth floor jail at one point brought the escapees face-to-face with an assistant state's attorney in the state's attorney's office.

But the fugitives, wearing street clothes, convinced an official they were helping the janitor.

Their escape cost jailer Roy Munson, 62, his job.

Sheriff Iver W. Johnson said Munson was careless and insubordinate in allowing Shockey and Lee to wriggle their way into the group of visitors.

Miami Trace Officials Concerned with 'Distractions'

Rural Board Probes 'Bus Followers'; Drivers Told To Call Patrol, Sheriff

A rash of reports that rural schools buses have been followed during the past week "by unauthorized persons", has prompted the Miami Trace Board of Education to issue a statement for the guidance of its drivers.

The instructions, which include a request that bus drivers immediately ask the State Highway Patrol or the sheriff's office for an investigation of such incidents, are included in a resolution placed on the board's minutes which states that the shadowing of school vehicles is creating an unnecessary source of mental stress for students and drivers alike.

While the board takes the official stand that the reason for following the buses is known only to the persons engaged and that the surveillance was without official knowledge of the board and without warning or notification, testimony of drivers at a special board session Tuesday night indicated that some of the persons following the buses identified themselves and said that they were making a survey of bus routes.

The names of 10 local residents, all of whom have been in opposition to Miami Trace official policies, was turned over to the board as taking part in the bus-trailing operation.

BOARD PRESIDENT Taylor Groff told the drivers and a group of parents that information on bus routes, schedules and numbers of pupils transported is open at all times to the public at the Miami Trace board office at Wilson school.

Both Groff and J. Herbert Perrill, vice president of the board, said the board's concern with the matter is not with the fact that certain individuals may wish to make a survey of bus routes but with their approach to the matter and with the effect it may have on the safety and welfare of the children involved.

"School bus operation is hazardous at best," Perrill said, "and we want nothing to interfere with the excellent safety record established by our drivers."

Board members said that a survey of bus routes by a member of the State Board of Education a week ago was within that official's province and remarked that he promptly notified Walter Boyer, executive head of the Miami Trace schools, of what was in progress.

The bus-following operation has been going on for a week, it was pointed out. On one day, all 11 buses going to Jeffersonville were followed by cars—some of whose drivers were known and some of them were not, drivers said.

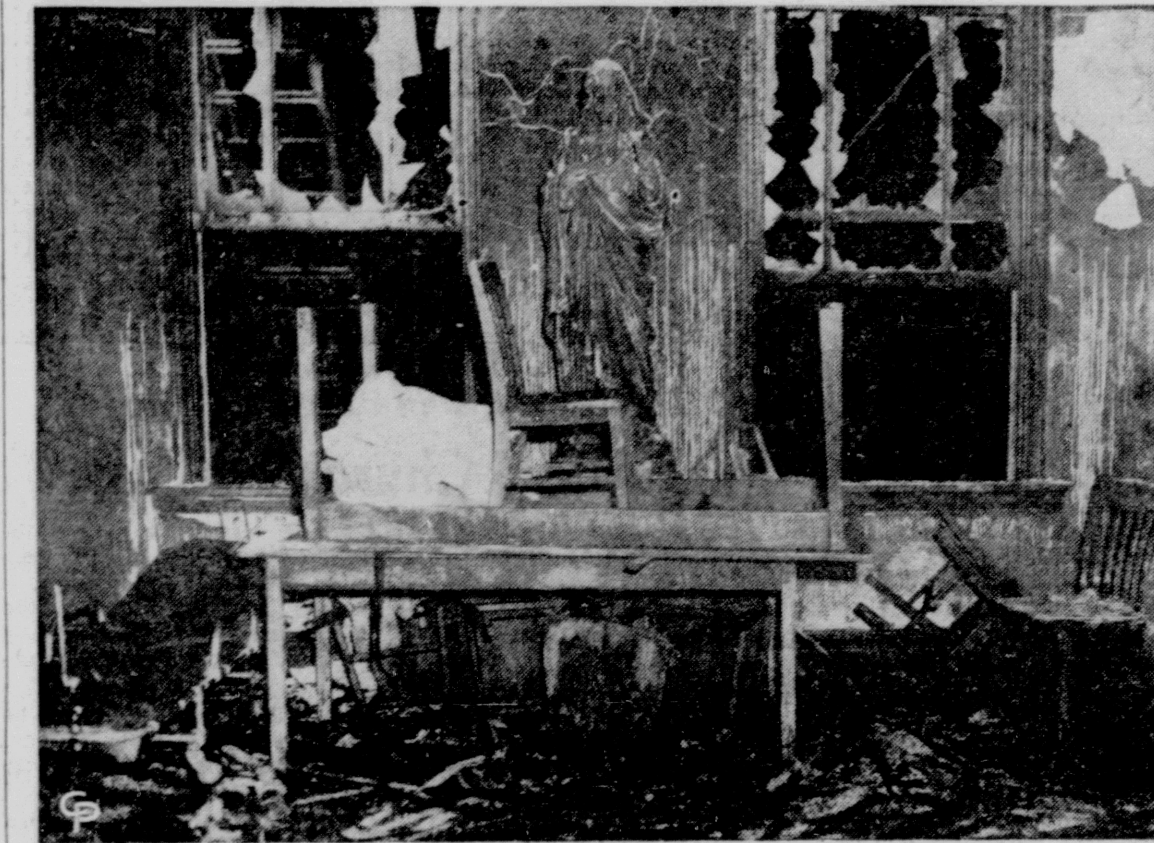

THE STATEMENT approved by the board said:

2 Trucks, Car Tie Up Traffic with Crashes

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Two tractor-trailers and a passenger automobile were damaged badly by fire today in a series of collisions at a bridge in Foster, Wren County.

No one was injured, and no one was cited, the State Highway Patrol said. The accidents occurred on U.S. 22. Traffic in both north and south direction was backed up for three miles.

CHARRED EMBERS AMID DISASTER -- A charred statue of Christ stands as a lonely sentinel in the aftermath of the disastrous fire in Our Lady of the Angels Roman Catholic School on Chicago's West Side, which claimed the lives of 87 children and three nuns.

CITY OFFICIALS VIEW THE HORROR -- Chicago city officials at the Cook County Morgue attempt to identify the victims of the worst school fire disaster in Chicago's history. The fire, which started a few minutes before class was to be dismissed in Our Lady of the Angels parochial school, took the lives of 87 grammar school students and three nuns.

Khrush Described As Push-Button Policy-Maker

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is a five push-button man. Policy making is his prime effort.

These sidelights on the Soviet Premier and Communist party boss came out of his eight-hour interview Monday with Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.).

"He is a well-informed man on anything you want to talk about," Humphrey told a news conference Tuesday.

"He would put many of our organization politicians, including some of the best ones, to shame."

"He obviously looks upon himself not as an administrator but as a policy maker. He has five push buttons on his desk and I believe he uses them."

"He doesn't bother with small details, but gives his subordinates authority to carry out that policy."

Ohio Supreme Court Rules Supplemental Benefits Illegal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court ruled today against simultaneous payment of supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) and state jobless compensation.

The 5-2 decision reversed Mahoning County courts that held Ohio law permits payment of SUB and state benefits at the same time.

Lower courts upset state administration rulings that SUB payments are remuneration under Ohio law and must be deducted from state jobless benefits.

The majority opinion was concurred in by Chief Justice Carl V. Weyandt and Judges James G. Stewart, John M. Mathias, James F. Bell and Thomas J. Herbert. Dissenting were Judges Charles B. Zimmerman and Kingsley A. Taft.

Union-negotiated SUB contracts with private employers are designed to augment state benefits so that jobless workers could receive about two-thirds of their take-home pay.

Maximum state benefits are $39 a week for 39 weeks. A special session of the Legislature added 13 weeks to the regular 26-week period to help jobless workers hit by the recession until next April.

Attorneys told the Supreme Court during hearings that SUB contracts cover about 270,000 of the 2,572,000 Ohio workers eligible for state benefits.

SUB contracts apply mainly in the steel, rubber, glass, automotive and electrical industries. SUB payments under various programs come from trust funds built up through deductions from employee earnings.

"We again emphasize the point that the payment of SUB does

Family Shares Home with Uninvited Con

PARSONS, Kan. (AP) — "You just don't take chances with six kids depending on you," said Wilbur March.

Thus the 41-year-old Parsons laborer explained why he kept silent while an escaped convict shared his home as an unwelcome guest for 42 days.

Acting on a tip from Mrs. March police Tuesday arrested Richard Lee Algaier, 28, a St. Louis robber who escaped Oct. 18 from the Missouri Penitentiary. Algaier was picked up while slipping beer in a Parsons tavern. He was unarmed and didn't resist.

March later said Algaier did threaten him.

"He told me that if he got picked up he would know what had happened and he had lots of friends," said March, an employee of a maulousome firm.

Algaier, who said he walked the 200-odd miles between the prison and Parsons, showed up at the March home Oct. 22, four days after he escaped.

"We first took him in because he was sick and hungry," said Mrs. March, prematurely gray at 33. "We have always helped people like that."

A week later, Algaier told them he was a fugitive.

"From then on he always had one of us with him," she said, weeping as she recalled the experience.

Medic Asks Warfare on Child-Beaters

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — An orthopedist today called for their children and duck responsibility by blaming the fractures open warfare against parents who maul their children and duck responsibility by blaming the fractures on accidents.

Dr. Donald S. Miller of Chicago said the help of the nation's family doctors is needed "if the child is to be saved and society is to be spared."

He cited growing opinion in psychiatry that unloved and mistreated children are most likely to develop into adult criminals.

Dr. Miller told general practitioners attending the annual clinical conference of the American Medical Assn. to be on the lookout for child injuries inconsistent with conditions found in truly accidental fractures.

He said such injuries have been inflicted by parents, baby sitters, brothers and sisters of the victim or even by "the lovers of irresponsible guardians when children discover clandestine meetings."

Such injuries are most often found, he went on, in an environment in which at least one adult is psychotic or neurotic and the household unstable.

The irresponsible parents who get caught killing or crippling their children make the headlines, he said, "but what about the chronic cases that go undetected?"

Dirksen Joins Fight To Curb Filibustering

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.) announced today he will support efforts to modify the Senate's filibuster rule.

The rule now requires the votes of 64 senators to shut off debate, and the number rises to 60 when Alaska's two senators are seated. Some senators are demanding a rules change to make it easier to end filibusters.

Dirksen, who is in line to become the Senate's new Republican leader, said in an interview that he has changed his mind since he voted in 1957 against opening the Senate's rules of changes.

He now has come to the conclusion, Dirksen said, that Vice President Nixon had "logic on his side" in holding informally that new rules can be adopted by majority vote at the beginning of each Congress.

His change of position lent added weight to a drive by Senate liberals to alter the filibuster provision.

Three of those, Senators Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.) and Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.), told a news conference Tuesday they are not going to make any deals in their fight to curb debate by a majority vote.

They have contended that if the present rule is permitted to stand, it will be impossible to pass additional civil rights legislation.

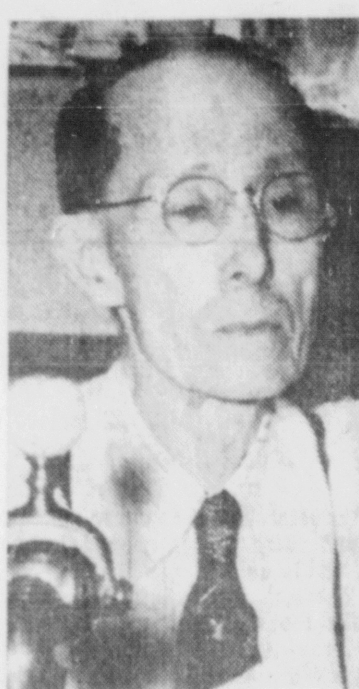

Pioneer Day Foe Plagues Railroad

LEVAN, Utah (AP) — The iron horse was forced to give ground Tuesday to a foe that caused railroad trouble in the early days of the west.

Seven buffalo from a nearby ranch wandered onto the Union Pacific Railroad tracks, and halted an ore train until they could be shooed off.

The prohibition amendment was in force a little less than 14 years.

Deaths, Funerals 'Jimmy' Miller Dies After Long Illness

JAMES A. MILLER

James A. Miller, 76, who was known affectionately as "Jimmy" to hundreds of men, women and children here, died at 7:50 a. m. Tuesday in the Elizabeth Ann Nursing Home, where he had been a patient for eight months. He had been in failing health for five years, but his condition had been serious for only two days.

"Jimmy" Miller had watched generation after generation here grow up from his place behind the soda fountain for more than half a century. None ever forgot him.

He was a "country boy" when he first came to Washington C. H. and went to work in the O. S. Tobin Ice Cream Parlor in the room that long ago was remodeled for Wade's Shoe Store.

He stayed in the ice cream and soda fountain business the rest of his life. At the time of his retirement, 5 1/2 years ago, he and Mrs. Miller had an ice cream parlor—known appropriately as "Jimmy Miller's"—almost directly across Court St. from the one where he took his first job.

He was a member of Grace Methodist Church, but the entire community was his only other organization.

He is survived by his wife, Eva, 513 Rawlins St.; a brother, Jacob Miller, Washington C. H.; a step daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Harris on, Cuyahoga Falls and two stepgrandchildren.

Services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Friday in the Gerstner Funeral Home by the Rev. L. J. Poe, pastor of Grace Church. Burial will be in the Bloomington Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 p. m. Wednesday.

ROSE ANN GILBERT — Services for Mrs. Rose Ann Gilbert, who died at 2:15 a. m. Sunday in Memorial Hospital, were held at 10 a. m. Tuesday in the Parrett Funeral Home by the Rev. Donald Arnold, pastor of the South Side Church of Christ.

Palbearers were Simeon Penrod, Howard and Delmar Gilbert, Burgett Riley, Andrew Hutton and Clay Snyder.

Burial was in Locust Grove Cemetery near Peebles.

JOHN ROBERT HURTT — Committal services for John Robert Hurtt, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Hurtt, 132 W. Oak St., were held in Washington Cemetery at 10 a. m. Wednesday by the Rev. Harold B. Twining, pastor of the First Baptist Church, under the direction of the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home.

The infant, who died at birth at 5 p. m. Tuesday in Memorial Hospital, is survived by his parents; two sisters, Anita Kay, 12, and Martha Elaine, 5, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hurtt of New Holland and Mrs. Bertha Dray of Fayette County.

Miners Spend $6,135 In Anti-RTW Campaign

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A report submitted by the United Mine Workers, District 6, to the Secretary of State Tuesday shows the union setup $6,135 in the campaign against the right-to-work proposal.

The union reported no contributions. Another union, Painesville Local 482 of the United Textile Workers of America, reported spending $1,348 against the right-to-work campaign. Contributions amounted to $1,351. The union said the balance will be used for future political and civic education and training.

October Traffic Toll Shows Hike over '57

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council reported today traffic deaths in October were 4 per cent higher than in October a year ago — 3,590 against 3,450. October brought an end to 13 months of uninterrupted traffic improvement. It was the second month of the last 23 to record an increase in highway fatalities over the corresponding month of the preceding year.

Council officials were unable to account for the increase.

Dist. Gov. Paul Addresses Lions

Chairmen Make Project Reports

District Governor Don Paul of near Dayton told members of the Washington C. H. Lions Club Tuesday night he was impressed by three things at the Lions International convention in Chicago last June: (1) the 240-Lions delegation that came all the way from Australia; (2) the friendly attitude of Lions from foreign countries, especially Austria and Italy; and (3) the parades, especially the one of the blind which was sponsored by the Iowa delegation.

Paul was the principal speaker at the club's regular dinner meeting in the Country Club. He was accompanied here by Dan Williams, his cabinet secretary, also from near Dayton.

In connection with his report on the convention, Paul commended the Washington C. H. club for the projects it has completed and the projects it now has under way.

Tom Mark, first vice president, presided at the meeting in the absence of President Ray French. He asked the Lions to give blood to the Red Cross Blood Bank when the mobile unit comes to First Presbyterian Church here next Monday.

Robert Neumann made a report on the Rubloff concert, which was sponsored by the club, and Omar Schwartz reported on the club's broom sale.

Guests at the meeting were Dr. Robert Heiny and Dr. Ralph Gebhart with Tom Gormley and Ben Montgomery with Maynard Wilson.

Miners Slated For $2-a-Day Wage Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new soft coal industry labor contract will give 180,000 miners a two-stage $2 per day pay boost next year.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, reached agreement on the pact Tuesday with the Bituminous Coal Operators Assn., the industry's largest labor bargaining group. It may be signed formally today.

Details were withheld pending the signing but it was learned the agreement provides for a $1.20 per day boost for miners Jan. 1 and another 80-cent increase next April 1. The miners' basic wage has been $22.25 daily. A boost from $180 to $200 in annual vacation pay was also provided.

The big news of the industry agreement was that separate pacts will be signed by owners of commercial mines and captive mines. The captives are mines operated for fuel for steel mills and utility plants.

The agreements are to be identical except that the commercial pact will include a new union-wanted proviso that the commercial mines will refuse to buy or handle coal produced by nonunion mines. The captives flatly refused to accept this, fearing possible antitrust law violation.

The new agreement runs for at least a year, and thereafter until either side terminates it on 60-day notice.

American League President Quits

WASHINGTON (AP) — William Harridge resigned today as president of the American League.

Harridge, who headed the league since 1931, made his decision known this morning after a meeting with baseball club owners.

His retirement will become effective as soon as the league is prepared to select his successor.

Harridge, 72, joined the American League as secretary to President Ban Johnson in December 1911 and has remained with the league ever since. He was elected league secretary in 1927.

He served under the league's second president, E.S. Barnard, and after Barnard's death in 1931 was named league president.

Modern Goes Primitive

Arthur Price working on panel for new Royal York wing.

By FRANK KUCHIRCHUK
Central Press Writer
WITH razor-sharp adze, chisels, mallets and paint brushes, artist-sculptor Arthur Price is creating pieces of Canadian primitive art which will decorate the new addition to Toronto's Royal York hotel.

Although other craftsmen are working on the project, Price is making the bulk of the designs at his studio workshop in Cyrville, near Ottawa. The totem poles, masks and Indian paintings are not designed as straight replicas of existing models, but rather as adaptations of traditional themes from various regions of Canada.

The immensity of the work is best exemplified by Price's workings on the totem poles. They are 10 feet high and the blank is 16 inches in diameter, of good British Columbia red cedar.

He prefers to work on his own rather than others' specifications. "It is more satisfying to do for yourself; more creative," says Price. His work is diversified. Family Shares Home with Uninvited Con

PARSONS, Kan. (AP) — "You just don't take chances with six kids depending on you," said Wilbur March.

Thus the 41-year-old Parsons laborer explained why he kept silent while an escaped convict shared his home as an unwelcome guest for 42 days.

Acting on a tip from Mrs. March police Tuesday arrested Richard Lee Aligaier, 28, a St. Louis robber who escaped Oct. 18 from the Missouri Penitentiary. Aligaier was picked up while sipping beer in a Parsons tavern. He was unarmed and didn't resist.

March later said Aligaier did threaten him.

"He told me that if he got picked up he would know what had happened and he had lots of friends," said March, an employee of a maulousome firm.

Aligaier, who said he walked the 200-odd miles between the prison and Parsons, showed up at the March home Oct. 22, four days after he escaped.

"We first took him in because he was sick and hungry," said Mrs. March, prematurely gray at 33. "We have always helped people like that."

A week later, Aligaier told them he was a fugitive.

"From then on he always had one of us with him," she said, weeping as she recalled the experience.

Medic Asks Warfare on Child-Beaters

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — An orthopedist today called for their children and duck responsibility by blaming the fractures open warfare against parents who maul their children and duck responsibility by blaming the fractures on accidents.

Dr. Donald S. Miller of Chicago said the help of the nation's family doctors is needed "if the child is to be saved and society is to be spared."

He cited growing opinion in psychiatry that unloved and mistreated children are most likely to develop into adult criminals.

Dr. Miller told general practitioners attending the annual clinical conference of the American Medical Assn. to be on the lookout for child injuries inconsistent with conditions found in truly accidental fractures.

He said such injuries have been inflicted by parents, baby sitters, brothers and sisters of the victim or even by "the lovers of irresponsible guardians when children discover clandestine meetings."

Such injuries are most often found, he went on, in an environment in which at least one adult is psychotic or neurotic and the household unstable.

The irresponsible parents who get caught killing or crippling their children make the headlines, he said, "but what about the chronic cases that go undetected?"

Dirksen Joins Fight To Curb Filibustering

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.) announced today he will support efforts to modify the Senate's filibuster rule.

The rule now requires the votes of 64 senators to shut off debate, and the number rises to 66 when Alaska's two senators are seated. Some senators are demanding a rules change to make it easier to end filibusters.

Dirksen, who is in line to become the Senate's new Republican leader, said in an interview that he has changed his mind since he voted in 1957 against opening the Senate's rules of changes.

He now has come to the conclusion, Dirksen said, that Vice President Nixon had "logic on his side" in holding informally then that new rules can be adopted by majority vote at the beginning of each Congress.

His change of position lent added weight to a drive by Senate liberals to alter the filibuster provision.

Three of these, Senators Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), Clifford P. Case (R-NJ) and Jacob K. Javits (R-NY), told a news conference Tuesday they are not going to make any deals in their fight to curb debate by a majority vote.

They have contended that if the present rule is permitted to stand, it will be impossible to pass additional civil rights legislation.

Pioneer Day Foe Plagues Railroad

LEVAN, Utah (AP) — The iron horse was forced to give ground Tuesday to a foe that caused railroad trouble in the early days of the west.

Seven buffalo from a nearby ranch wandered onto the Union Pacific Railroad tracks, and halted an ore train until they could be shooed off.

The prohibition amendment was in force a little less than 14 years.

Deaths, Funerals 'Jimmy' Miller Dies After Long Illness

JAMES A. MILLER

James A. Miller, 76, who was known affectionately as "Jimmy" to hundreds of men, women and children here, died at 7:50 a. m. Tuesday in the Elizabeth Ann Nursing Home, where he had been a patient for eight months. He had been in failing health for five years, but his condition had been serious for only two days.

"Jimmy" Miller had watched generation after generation here grow up from his place behind the soda fountain for more than half a century. None never forgot him.

He was a "country boy" when he first came to Washington C. H. and went to work in the O. S. Tobin Ice Cream Parlor in the room that long ago was remodeled for Wade's Shoe Store.

He stayed in the ice cream and soda fountain business the rest of his life. At the time of his retirement, 5 1/2 years ago, he and Mrs. Miller had an ice cream parlor—known appropriately as "Jimmy Miller's"—almost directly across Court St. from the one where he took his first job.

He was a member of Grace Methodist Church, but the entire community was his only other organization.

He is survived by his wife, Eva, 513 Rawlings St.; a brother, Jacob Miller, Washington C. H.; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Dorothy Harris on, Cuyahoga Falls and two stepgrandchildren.

Services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Friday in the Gerstner Funeral Home by the Rev. L. J. Poe, pastor of Grace Church. Burial will be in the Bloomingburg Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 p. m. Wednesday.

ROSE ANN GILBERT — Services for Mrs. Rose Ann Gilbert, who died at 2:15 a. m. Sunday in Memorial Hospital, were held at 10 a. m. Tuesday in the Parrott Funeral Home by the Rev. Donald Arnold, pastor of the South Side Church of Christ.

Palbearers were Simeon Penrod, Howard and Delmar Gilbert, Burgett Riley, Andrew Hutton and Clay Snyder.

Burial was in Locust Grove Cemetery near Peebles.

JOHN ROBERT HURTT — Committal services for John Robert Hurtt, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Hurtt, 132 W. Oak St., were held in Washington Cemetery at 10 a. m. Wednesday by the Rev. Harold B. Twining, pastor of the First Baptist Church, under the direction of the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home.

The infant, who died at birth at 5 p. m. Tuesday in Memorial Hospital, is survived by his parents; two sisters, Anita Kay, 12, and Marsha Elaine, 5, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hurtt of New Holland and Mrs. Bertha Dray of Fayette County.

Miners Spend $6,135 In Anti-RTW Campaign

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A report submitted by the United Mine Workers, District 6, to the Secretary of State Tuesday shows the union setup $6,135 in the campaign against the right-to-work proposal.

The union reported no contributions. Another union, Painesville Local 482 of the United Textile Workers of America, reported spending $1,348 against the right-to-work campaign. Contributions amounted to $1,351. The union said the balance will be used for future political and civic education and training.

October Traffic Toll Shows Hike over '57

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council reported today traffic deaths in October were 4 per cent higher than in October a year ago — 3,590 against 3,450.

October brought an end to 13 months of uninterrupted traffic improvement. It was the second month of the last 23 to record an increase in highway fatalities over the corresponding month of the preceding year.

Council officials were unable to account for the increase.

Dist. Gov. Paul Addresses Lions

Chairmen Make Project Reports

District Governor Don Paul of near Dayton told members of the Washington C. H. Lions Club Tuesday night he was impressed by three things at the Lions International convention in Chicago last June: (1) the 240-Lions delegation that came all the way from Australia; (2) the friendly attitude of Lions from foreign countries, especially Austria and Italy; and (3) the parades, especially the one of the blind which was sponsored by the Iowa delegation.

Paul was the principal speaker at the club's regular dinner meeting in the Country Club. He was accompanied here by Dan Williams, his cabinet secretary, also from near Dayton.

In connection with his report on the convention, Paul commended the Washington C. H. club for the projects it has completed and the projects it now has under way.

Tom Mark, first vice president, presided at the meeting in the absence of President Ray French. He asked the Lions to give blood to the Red Cross Blood Bank when the mobile unit comes to First Presbyterian Church here next Monday.

Robert Neumann made a report on the Rubino concert, which was sponsored by the club, and Omar Schwart reported on the club's broom sale.

Guests at the meeting were Dr. Robert Heiny and Dr. Ralph Gebhart with Tom Gormley and Ben Montgomery with Maynard Wilson.

Miners Slated For $2-a-Day Wage Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new soft coal industry labor contract will give 180,000 miners a two-stage $2 per day pay boost next year.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, reached agreement on the pact Tuesday with the Bituminous Coal Operators Assn., the industry's largest labor bargaining group. It may be signed formally today.

Details were withheld pending the signing but it was learned the agreement provides for a $1.20 per day boost for miners Jan. 1 and another 80-cent increase next April 1. The miners' basic wage has been $22.25 daily. A boost from $180 to $200 in annual vacation pay was also provided.

The big news of the industry agreement was that separate pacts will be signed by owners of commercial mines and captive mines. The captives flatly refused to accept this, fearing possible antitrust law violation.

The new agreement runs for at least a year, and thereafter until either side terminates it on 60-day notice.

The agreements are to be identical except that the commercial pact will include a new union-wanted proviso that the commercial mines will refuse to buy or handle coal produced by nonunion mines. The captives flatly refused to accept this, fearing possible antitrust law violation.

The new agreement runs for at least a year, and thereafter until either side terminates it on 60-day notice.

American League President Quits

WASHINGTON (AP) — William Harridge resigned today as president of the American League.

Harridge, who headed the league since 1931, made his decision known this morning after a meeting with baseball club owners.

His retirement will become effective as soon as the league is prepared to select his successor.

Harridge, 72, joined the American League as secretary to President Ban Johnson in December 1911 and has remained with the league ever since. He was elected league secretary in 1927.

He served under the league's second president, E.S. Barnard, and after Barnard's death in 1931 was named league president.

Modern Goes Primitive

By FRANK KUCHIRCHUK
Central Press Writer
WITH razor-sharp adze, chisels, mallets and paint brushes, artist-sculptor Arthur Price is creating pieces of Canadian primitive art which will decorate the new addition to Toronto's Royal York hotel.

Although other craftsmen are working on the project, Price is making the bulk of the designs at his studio workshop in Cyrville, near Ottawa.

The totem poles, masks and Indian paintings are not designed as straight replicas of existing models, but rather as adaptations of traditional themes from various regions of Canada.

The immensity of the work is best exemplified by Price's workings on the totem poles. They are 10 feet high and the blank is 16 inches in diameter, of good British Columbia red cedar.

First Services Will Be Sunday In New Jeff Church of Christ

JEFFERSONVILLE — Although the Church of Christ in Jeffersonville is still far from completed, the first services will be held in it Sunday.

Actually, the service will be in what eventually will be the pastor's home, and even the finishing touches will have to be put on it between now and Sunday morning, the Rev. Robert Wright, the pastor, said.

The pastor's home is the first phase of the three-phase building program. It was started last spring. Since plans call for using it for the church for a time, the partitions for the rooms were not put in. As it stands, however, it provides a 68 by 28 foot space which will serve as the sanctuary until the church proper is completed. It will seat around 200.

The first worship service will be held there at 9:30 a. m. Sunday. Bible School will convene at 10:30 a. m.

The Rev. Mr. Wright's sermon topic will be "Restoring the Church."

THE NEW CHURCH, when the building program of pastor's home, church proper and Sunday School, or Christian Education building, is completed, will be of red brick. They will be on Route 70 about a half mile north of the village.

Work on the church proper is expected to begin in about two years. Meanwhile, the pastor's home will be used for services.

The Church of Christ was formed here only three years ago. It now has 81 members and the average attendance at services last month was 92.

The congregation has been meeting in a residence, 343 Main St., owned by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Roush.

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The slower pace of recovery from the business recession worries some folk — not ably some stock traders.

But there's a large rooting section for long term business prosperity that believes the current slower pace is good. These more cautious souls believe the best motto now should be: Easy does it.

And they were more pleased than dismayed when a sharp break in stock prices sounded a warning in Wall Street.

Taking into account the increase in prices over the last 15 months, the economy has come back about one-third of the way from the recession dip that carried it to a low last April. Most of the rebound was in the summer months.

October showed only a slight gain over September and the climb in November wasn't much more than that.

The big fear in the first months of unexpectedly rapid recovery was that speculation fever might take hold and head toward fast inflation — that is, the further decline in the purchasing power of your dollar.

The slower and steadier pace of the autumn has allayed much of this fear, despite the still disquieting effects of a federal deficit and rising wages.

Another healthy note sounded today is that the return of confidence seems at last to have halted the more than a year of rapidly falling inventories. This drop and the decline in business spending for new plant and equipment are given most of the blame for the rapid descent of industrial activity well under way just a year ago.

The same leveling off seems to have continued during November.
Meantime, with inventories for many companies cut back to where they want them, they are expected to start ordering materials now to keep production in line

Four Here To Attend School Conventions in Cleveland

Earl Miller, principal of the

In Cleveland at the same time

Smith planned the program for the OASA one-day meeting Friday and will present the honor awards to outstanding school administrators. He planned to leave here for Cleveland Thursday and said he will attend some of the OEA sessions.

Groff is going to the OEA meeting to accept the award for the board's personnel policy statement, one of 11 selected for special recognition for their "outstanding merit." The award will be made at the dinner Friday night in the Hotel Cleveland.

MORE THAN 1,400 are expected to attend the three-day OEA convention.

Five OEA departments and still more allied groups will hold separate meetings during the convention.

Max V. Brown, assistant vice president for personnel, Ohio Bell Telephone Co., Cleveland, will speak on "The Good Boss Today" and Harold M. Shane, professor of education, Northwestern University, will address the Department of Elementary School Principals.

Pres. Alfred Bonds, Baldwin-Wallace College, will speak to with current sales and new orders.

There are other good signs. Auto production in November was about double that of October, thanks to the end of strikes, and dealers are now getting cars — and report they are selling them. Steel output which had fallen below 50 per cent of capacity, is now back to 75 per cent.

It's no boom but it's a healthy recovery.

Problems of Aged Getting More Attention

Thanks to advances in the standards of medical care, in nutrition, and in other allied arts and sciences, life expectancy in this country has been greatly increased. This means that the proportion of elderly people in the population is far larger than it used to be, and is steadily increasing.

We have, as a consequence, developed a comparatively new set of problems—the health problem of the aged. In recognition of this fact a Joint Council for the Health Care of the Aged was formed last April, and plans are currently being developed for a national conference to be held in the spring of the coming year.

The Council is made up of eminently qualified organizations—the American Dental Association, the American Hospital Association, the American Medical Association, and the American Nursing Home Association. It has laid down five specific objectives: To identify and analyze the health needs of the aged; to appraise available health resources for the aged; to develop programs to foster the best possible health care for the aged; to foster effective methods of payment for this care and, finally, to foster health education programs of the aged.

This is a sound approach to the problems involved, and splendid results can be anticipated. A good many people, when issues of the sort arise, tend to take the attitude of "let the government solve them." And this, as we should have learned by now, often creates worse and more lasting problems than those that need solving in the first place. All success to the Joint Council's vitally important work.

Mickey Rooney Gives Advice

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—"You have to be true to yourself," said Mickey Rooney, whose fourth divorce is in the mill.

"You have to learn to understand your own faults. You can progress then—if you learn to understand yourself first."

It was 4:30 in the afternoon, breakfast time for Rooney, who is in the middle of a four-week engagement at his first night club appearance here.

At 38, Hollywood's ageless Puck is as bouncy and full of self-confidence as ever, but an air of friendliness has replaced the conceit that annoyed his earlier critics.

Mickey really never has been offstage since he crawled out before the footlights and got his first laugh when he was less than a year old. At 4 he played his first adult role—a midget—and he was the nation's top-drawing film star before he could vote.

"I guess I've been in at least 150 pictures," said Mickey. "But I like all mediums—night clubs, radio, television, movies. They all come under one tent: Show business."

"I don't feel any limitations, and there's nothing I wouldn't love to play—if I was tall enough. But I never have felt my height"—he's 5 feet 3—"has been a handicap professionally."

Rooney's outside interests at present are concentrated on golf, matrimony, and music—but not necessarily in that order.

He has done the musical scores for a couple of films, he plays the piano now instead of the drums, and he likes to write semi-folk songs. He's a member of ASCAP.

Mickey is quite willing—up to a point—to discuss his marital problems, and if his repeated matrimonial strikeouts have hurt him he hides the scars well.

"I've had five wives," he said. "Four," broke in a member of his entourage.

"Well, so I'm a liar for one? I'm being divorced again now. But I'm still interested in getting married again."

"They don't scare me. I love girls. They're here to stay."

Mickey remains a perennial optimist.

"I get a kick out of everything," he said. "There are no problems that can't be solved."

"Happiness is inevitable. I believe. You just have to seek it. But if you do, you'll find it somewhere along the line."

"I have great faith in people. I never judge anybody at the first meeting—or the second meeting. It isn't fair."

"He can see you—but you can't see yourself."

Barbarian at the Gate

By George Sokolsky

I once heard a man make this comparison. He said: The Romans at least knew that the barbarians were at their gates; we are conscious of nothing.

Americans dislike gloom. They dislike gloomy thoughts. They dislike believing the worst or even unpleasantly. This is a nation of optimists with a long tradition to justify that we are indeed a fortunate people.

Also, Americans, with a measure of reason, believe that mechanical and technological, they are superior to any nation on earth which they show by their high standard of living.

Realism, however, demands that we face the fact that we have a "cold war" which has protracted itself now for a sufficiently long period to justify taking it seriously, to study its meaning and to assume that our defense must be now.

Our government is at any rate organizing to meet the situation, but it has failed to prepare the people for it and for the consequences that face us. After all, in our kind of country, unless the people support the government, it can have no policy and no purpose.

The weakness of the politician is that he still believes that he can both lead a horse to water and make him drink. The course of events since 1945 shows that Americans can be apathetic about their own country when they lose confidence in the leadership of government.

We are at war. The cold war is costly in wealth, in time, and its consequences may be devastating. It is not as costly in human life as a shooting war.

But should we lose the cold war we might lose our national existence or we might be forced to fight a shooting war too late for it to be to our advantage. The planners believe, however, that they are now reaching the time when the non-Soviet world recognizes the perils we face and therefore the kind of coalition is possible which may save us.

Their calculations are based on the assumption that the Soviet side is making and will make as many mistakes as our side does and that if mistakes are balanced there is still hope.

What we need is the kind of candor which is rare among political leaders. Our prospect of success against the Soviet world depends upon our technological advance. They must not catch up to us, because if they do, or if they pass us, we shall be defeated without battle.

It therefore becomes necessary for us to undertake basic steps to meet this situation:

1. It will require a total reorganization of our educational procedures and facilities from the primary school to post graduate work in the university. We cannot afford the waste of fads and frills. Our educators must get down to bed rock, teaching hard courses and requiring students to get good marks for hard work, and throwing out all others who can find other work to do. Unless we key up our educational system, we shall not be producing enough thinkers to make it possible for us to have a chance. This requires not only knowledge but honesty of purpose.

2. We need to rearrange and coordinate our various governments, federal, state and municipal, to cut out all waste. We have no room for waste. We have no time for waste. The politicians who cannot adjust to government without waste without graft and corruption and the nonsense that is called "politics," are doing immense damage to this country. We are not rich any longer and cannot afford to pay the fancy bills which the politicians charge us for letting them govern us.

3. We need to fight inflation at home so that we are not defeated by our own means. The cost of government, of living, of schooling, of everything is so high and is rising so rapidly that the value of the American dollar is diminishing at home and abroad. It is that diminishing value of the dollar that gives our enemy an advantage over us. It is necessary for government to meet that situation even if it means restoring controls.

An honest statement by the President to the people, well-documented, will save heartaches later.

President Eisenhower can do it without such risks as politicians do not like to take. After all, he can never stand for reelection and need not fear the political consequences of the truth.

That was quite a cold wave the Republican candidates ran in to in that recent Alaska election. In fact, most of the GOP candidates got "screwed" way under.

When it comes to giving the cold shoulder to office seekers, those Forty-Ninth States appear to be experts.

A runaway elephant was found hiding in a garage in San Remo Italy. Guess the pachyderm figured that was as good a place to park as any.

British museum authorities still haven't found a pair of glis glis. Asian bushy-tailed rats, that escaped some time ago. With a name like that, it's only natural the critters would operate in pairs.

Thanksgiving came a day early to some folks in a Tennessee town when a poultry truck toppled over, releasing 3,024 chickens!

Slipped Disc Is Apt To Hit Older People

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

A SLIPPED disc doesn't really slip. Actually, it is a rupture which causes all the pain and trouble.

Your spine is composed of many little hard, bony structures called vertebra which support the trunk or the pelvis. Between each vertebra is a soft spongy material called a disc. It is these discs which permit the spine to move.

Shock Absorbers

In effect, they serve as shock absorbers to sudden changes in movement or any jarring pressures.

Because the lumbar or lower back region supports the entire upper body, this is the area where stress and strain is most likely to rupture a disc.

A disc is made up of several parts. It is covered by strong, fibrous tissues which help confine the softer spongy material between the vertebra.

Slipped Disc

When some strain or stress tears the outer ring, the softer material oozes into the spinal canal. This rupture is what we commonly call a "slipped disc." Occasionally, young adults will suffer a ruptured disc, but generally it occurs in persons 25 and older. Many doctors believe that the normal aging process of the body has something to do with disc ruptures.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A LITTLE OLD LADY was crying hysterically in the aisle of a Pullman car. There was a mouse in her drawing room, it seemed. The porter and conductor finally calmed her. Furthermore, she was absolutely right. There was a mouse in her drawing room. She had brought it aboard herself—in a shoe box—and released it when she deemed the moment ripe.

The railroad police maintain a protective section to round up just such petty chisellers as the frail little lady. She had collected "nuisance fees" from a dozen railroads for this same "mouse" dodge before they got wise to her little act.

Tide reports a Wisconsin furniture emporium that inserted this plaintive ad in a local gazette: "Will the mother whose little boy laid his half-sucked lollipop on a mahogany end table please come in again? She can have the end table for exactly one dollar, with the lollipop still intact."

Cincy-Good Government Group Raps Patronage

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Hamilton County Good Government

League wants county commissioners to junk the appointment, or patronage, system of getting county employees and substitute a civil service system. The suggestion was presented to commissioners Tuesday and Mrs. Iola Hessler, league executive director, said only 25 per cent of nearly 3,000 county workers are under civil service and these are only in the sheriff's and the welfare offices.

The Nation Today

James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Today Meade Alcorn, chairman of the Republican National Committee, sought to explain why the Republicans lost the 1958 elections. It was a shallow analysis. He still doesn't seem to understand the disaster.

Or maybe he understands but doesn't want to be overly blunt about it.

His committee released here excerpts from the explanation he prepared for the National Assn. of Manufacturers in New York. Alcorn said: "There was a definite tide running for the opposition party from Maine to California."

He not only fell far short of explaining the full cause of the tide but skipped over the fact that this was not a new tide but a steady one which had crushed the Republicans three times in a row: in 1954, in 1956, and again this year.

Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, followed Alcorn at the manufacturers' meeting with an explanation of why his party won. Butler was aggressive where Alcorn was defensive.

What Alcorn didn't explain was why the voters—in three successive elections—preferred to have the Democrats run Congress. He concentrated on his party's disaster this year, and listed these as reasons:

The big increase in unemployment in 1958; not enough campaign funds from business and professional people; lack of support from some Republicans who didn't like parts of the Republican program; injection of right-to-work proposals in several state elections, reviving the image of big business versus big labor; and tremendous financial and other help to the Democrats from organized labor.

But the most obvious possibility for the Republicans' defeat was the one Alcorn didn't mention: voters' dissatisfaction with the Republicans' performance and ideas in running the government.

Alcorn summed up: "The Republican party can never hope to recapture control of Congress until we match in money, in manpower and in organization work the efforts now being put forth by the opposition. . . . I know we have the better product to sell. But we lack the sales force."

This makes it seem as though all the Republicans have to do to win in 1960 is rake in enough campaign money and ring enough doorbells. He did not mention, in his excerpted speech, a primary requisite for any party to win an election:

A performance in deeds that will make it more attractive to the voters than the opposition.

Butler in effect said the Republican party still doesn't know what time it is. He accused the Republicans of still living in the 19th century in their "scare" approach to a political campaign.

He ridiculed them for their tactics in trying to make the voters think the Democrats were "radicals" and "Socialists" and "big-spenders." He asked: "How often and how badly does the Republi-

Chubby Child Glutton Said Health Problem

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—The chubby, half-starved glutton has become one of the nation's major health problems.

An Indiana pediatrician today put millions of American children in that class. And he put major blame on their parents.

Dr. Harold D. Lynch of Evansville said these children are growing fat and flabby on foods they don't need while starving their bodies of the protein-rich foods they need for health and proper growth.

He spoke at the annual clinical conference of the American Medical Assn.

JOHN ARON PEACOCK

(In co-operation with J. Edgar Hoover, FBI Director, this newspaper is running a series of descriptive articles on criminals wanted by the FBI.)

JOHN ARON PEACOCK is being sought by the FBI for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for the crime of robbery. With two other bandits on Jan. 25, 1957, he reportedly robbed a Garland, Texas, food store manager of approximately $6,000 in cash as he was en route from the bank to his store.

Peacock, who has previously been convicted for violation of the Internal Revenue Code (liquor), is still being sought for his part in the Garland robbery.

A complaint was filed before a U. S. Commissioner at Dallas, Texas, on March 18, 1957, charging Peacock with violation of the Unlawful Flight to Avoid Prosecution Statute in that he fled from the State of Texas to avoid prosecution for the crime of robbery.

The fugitive, whose aliases include Aaron Peacock, Jay A. Peacock, John Peacock, John A. Peacock, John Aron Peacock and "Little Red," has worked as jitney driver.

Peacock reportedly carries a gun at all times and has said he will not be taken alive. He should, therefore, be considered extremely dangerous.

DESCRIPTION: Age, 43; Born, Perry, Fla.; Height, 5 feet 5 inches to 5 feet 8 inches; Weight, 155 to 160; Build, medium; Hair, reddish brown; Eyes, brown; Complexion, medium. Has mole on left cheek, mole on rear of right shoulder, 1/2-inch scar on right thorax, 1 1/2-inch scar on back of left hand, small scar on left thumb and 1/2-inch scar on right knee.

INFORMATION concerning fugitive should be telephoned to the nearest FBI office.

Problems of Aged Getting More Attention

Thanks to advances in the standards of medical care, in nutrition, and in other allied arts and sciences, life expectancy in this country has been greatly increased. This means that the proportion of elderly people in the population is far larger than it used to be, and is steadily increasing.

We have, as a consequence, developed a comparatively new set of problems—the health problem of the aged. In recognition of this fact a Joint Council for the Health Care of the Aged was formed last April, and plans are currently being developed for a national conference to be held in the spring of the coming year.

The Council is made up of eminently qualified organizations — the American Dental Association, the American Hospital Association, the American Medical Association, and the American Nursing Home Association. It has laid down five specific objectives: To identify and analyze the health needs of the aged; to appraise available health resources for the aged; to develop programs to foster the best possible health care for the aged; to foster effective methods of payment for this care and, finally, to foster health education programs of the aged.

This is a sound approach to the problems involved, and splendid results can be anticipated. A good many people, when issues of the sort arise, tend to take the attitude of "let the government solve them." And this, as we should have learned by now, often creates worse and more lasting problems than those that need solving in the first place. All success to the Joint Council's vitally important work.

Mickey Rooney Gives Advice

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—"You have to be true to yourself," said Mickey Rooney, whose fourth divorce is in the mill.

"You have to learn to understand your own faults. You can progress then—if you learn to understand yourself first."

It was 4:30 in the afternoon, breakfast time for Rooney, who is in the middle of a four-week engagement at his first night club appearance here.

At 38, Hollywood's ageless Puck is as bouncy and full of self-confidence as ever, but an air of friendliness has replaced the conceit that annoyed his earlier critics.

Mickey really never has been offstage since he crawled out before the footlights and got his first laugh when he was less than a year old. At 4 he played his first adult role—a midget—and he was the nation's top-drawing film star before he could vote.

"I guess I've been in at least 150 pictures," said Mickey. "But I like all mediums—night clubs, radio, television, movies. They all come under one tent: Show business."

"I don't feel any limitations, and there's nothing I wouldn't love to play—if I was tall enough. But I never have felt my height—he's 5 feet 3"—has been a handicap professionally."

Rooney's outside interests at present are concentrated on golf, matrimony, and music—but not necessarily in that order.

He has done the musical scores for a couple of films, he plays the piano now instead of the drums, and he likes to write semi-folk songs. He's a member of ASCAP.

Mickey is quite willing—up to a point—to discuss his marital problems, and if his repeated matri-

Barbarian at the Gate

By George Sokolsky

I once heard a man make this comparison. He said: The Romans at least knew that the barbarians were at their gates; we are conscious of nothing.

Americans dislike gloom. They dislike gloomy thoughts. They dislike believing the worst or even unpleasantly. This is a nation of optimists with a long tradition to justify that we are indeed a fortunate people.

Also, Americans, with a measure of reason, believe that mechanical and technological, they are superior to any nation on earth which they see by their high standard of living.

Realism, however, demands that we face the fact that we have a "cold war" which has protracted itself now for a sufficiently long period to justify taking it seriously, to study its meaning and to assume that our defense must be now.

Our government is at any rate organizing to meet the situation, but it has failed to prepare the people for it and for the consequences that face us. After all, in our kind of country, unless the people support the government, it can have no policy and no purpose.

The weakness of the politician is that he still believes that he can both lead a horse to water and make him drink. The course of events since 1945 shows that Americans can be apathetic about their own country when they lose confidence in the leadership of government.

We are at war. The cold war is costly in wealth, in time, and its consequences may be devastating. It is not as costly in human life as a shooting war.

But should we lose the cold war we might lose our national existence or we might be forced to fight a shooting war too late for it to be to our advantage. The planners believe, however, that they are now reaching the time when the non-Soviet world recognizes the perils we face and therefore the kind of coalition is possible which may save us.

Their calculations are based on the assumption that the Soviet side is making and will make as many mistakes as our side does and that if mistakes are balanced there is still hope.

What we need is the kind of candor which is rare among political leaders. Our prospect of success against the Soviet world depends upon our technological advance. They must not catch up to us, because if they do, or if they pass us, we shall be defeated without battle.

It therefore becomes necessary for us to undertake basic steps to meet this situation:

1. It will require a total reorganization of our educational procedures and facilities from the primary school to post graduate

Diet and Health Slipped Disc Is Apt To Hit Older People

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

A SLIPPED disc doesn't really slip. Actually, it is a rupture which causes all the pain and trouble.

Your spine is composed of many little hard, bony structures called vertebra which support the trunk or the pelvis. Between each vertebra is a soft spongy material called a disc. It is these discs which permit the spine to move.

In childhood, the interlacing strands of fibrous tissue have a high fluid content which makes them quite elastic. Some of this elasticity, however, is lost as we grow older and the fluid content decreases.

May Rupture

Despite this, the disc will function normally under ordinary circumstances. But when the degenerative processes become even more pronounced, a rupture may result.

Usually, the pain is so intense with a ruptured disc that the victim immediately thinks of surgery as the best form of relief. In many cases, though, surgery isn't necessary. A physician usually will determine how a disc reacts to medical management before deciding upon the method of treatment.

For some patients, all that will be needed is bed rest. Others may require traction and corrective jackets or limited types of exercise.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

A. C.: My three-year-old girl's hair is getting very thin spots. What causes this? What can be done to correct this problem?

A. Answer: Your daughter's patchy thinning of the hair may be due to ringworm or to alopecia areata. Consult your doctor for the proper diagnosis and treatment.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A LITTLE OLD LADY was crying hysterically in the aisle of a Pullman car. There was a mouse in her drawing room, it seemed. The porter and conductor finally calmed her. Furthermore, she was absolutely right. There was a mouse in her drawing room. She had brought it aboard herself—in a shoe box—and released it when she deemed the moment ripe.

The railroad police maintain a protective section to round up just such petty chisellers as the frail little lady. She had collected "nuisance fees" from a dozen railroads for this same "mouse" dodge before they got wise to her little act.

Tide reports a Wisconsin furniture emporium that inserted this plaintive ad in a local gazette: "Will the mother whose little boy laid his half-sucked lollipop on a mahogany end table please come in again? She can have the end table for exactly one dollar, with the lollipop still intact."

Cincy-Good Government Group Raps Patronage

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Hamilton County Good Government League wants county commissioners to junk the appointment, or patronage, system of getting county employees and substitute a civil service system. The suggestion was presented to commissioners Tuesday and Mrs. Iola Hessler, league executive director, said only 25 per cent of nearly 3,000 county workers are under civil service and these are only in the sheriff's and the welfare offices.

Bribe-Taking Official Awaits Judge's Verdict

Max Lukas, 38, pleaded guilty Tuesday to soliciting and accepting a bribe for overlooking a building code violation in an east side home a year ago. Lukas is a former Wheeling, W. The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Today Meade Alcorn, chairman of the Republican National Committee, sought to explain why the Republicans lost the 1958 elections. It was a shallow analysis. He still doesn't seem to understand the disaster.

Or maybe he understands but doesn't want to be overly blunt about it.

His committee released here excerpts from the explanation he prepared for the National Assn. of Manufacturers in New York. Alcorn said: "There was a definite tide running for the opposition party from Maine to California."

He not only fell far short of explaining the full cause of the tide but skipped over the fact that this was not a new tide but a steady one which had crushed the Republicans three times in a row: in 1954, in 1956, and again this year.

Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, followed Alcorn at the manufacturers' meeting with an explanation of why his party won. Butler was aggressive where Alcorn was defensive.

What Alcorn didn't explain was why the voters — in three successive elections — preferred to have the Democrats run Congress. He concentrated on his party's disaster this year, and listed these as reasons:

The big increase in unemployment in 1958; not enough campaign funds from business and professional people; lack of support from some Republicans who didn't like parts of the Republican program; injection of right-to-work proposals in several state elections, reviving the image of big business versus big labor; and tremendous financial and other help to the Democrats from organized labor.

But the most obvious possibility for the Republicans' defeat was the one Alcorn didn't mention: voters' dissatisfaction with the Republicans' performance and ideas in running the government.

Alcorn summed up: "The Republican party can never hope to recapture control of Congress until we match in money, in manpower and in organization work the efforts now being put forth by the opposition. . . . I know we have the better product to sell. But we lack the sales force."

This makes it seem as though all the Republicans have to do to win in 1960 is rake in enough campaign money and ring enough doorbells. He did not mention, in his excerpted speech, a primary requisite for any party to win an election:

A performance in deeds that will make it more attractive to the voters than the opposition.

Butler in effect said the Republican party still doesn't know what time it is. He accused the Republicans of still living in the 19th century in their "scare" approach to a political campaign.

He ridiculed them for their tactics in trying to make the voters think the Democrats were "radicals" and "Socialists" and "big spenders." He asked: "How often and how badly does the Republican party have to be beaten before it decides to give up those ridiculous tactics?"

He agreed with Alcorn that right-to-work proposals — in most of the states where they were an issue — helped down the Republicans. But the Democrats made a national sweep and Butler said the party won on national issues.

He interpreted the 1958 election results as "a ringing repudiation of the Eisenhower administration and its failure to provide aggressive, full-time and forward-looking leadership in the areas of economic growth, employment, cost of living, labor legislation, education, defense, human rights and foreign policy."

Losers Entertain With Style Show

The losing team in a recent contest held by the Graduate Sorority presented a fashion show at the Christmas Dinner Party Monday evening.

The 41 members and guests were seated at three long tables in the St. Andrew's Episcopal Church. Each table was centered with a Santa Claus and lighted tapers.

Following the dinner hour a short business session was conducted by the primus, Mrs. Robert Creamer. A donation was made to the Christmas Seals fund.

Mrs. N. M. Reiff and Mrs. Richard Arnott presented a fashion show with the theme "Fact and Fancy." Each model first appeared as she usually looks and then as she wanted to look. The dresses were from the Martha Washington Shop. The models were Mrs. Robert Mace, Mrs. John Ervin, Mrs. Ralph Douglas, Mrs. Ned Abbott, Mrs. David Looker, Mrs. Walter E. Bine, Mrs. Maurice Hopkins, Mrs. James Hagler, Mrs. Emery Lynch, Mrs. Ralph Hyer, Mrs. Sam Coil Jr., Mrs. Creamer, Mrs. James Garringer, Mrs. Lawrence Dumford, Mrs. John W. Creachbaum, Mrs. Lavern Haugen and Mrs. Phil Douglas. Mrs. Loren Noble played organ music during the show.

Guests were Mrs. Reiff, Mrs. Francis Haines, Mrs. Fred Enslin and Miss Helen McKee.

Mrs. Hyer, Mrs. William Kearney, Mrs. Gene Mark and Mrs. Mace were in charge of the party.

Ohio Dems' Assembly Gain May Be of Long Duration

By REED SMITH
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Democratic election gains in the State Legislature may extend farther than first supposed.

The party won control of both houses in the 103rd General Assembly from Republicans for the first time in a decade. They also appear likely to hold Senate control, at least, in the 104th Legislature which convenes in 1961.

The situation resulted from the creation of four-year terms for 16 of the 33 senators elected for the session starting Jan. 5. Democrats won 11 four-year terms and Republicans only five.

The other 17 senators were elected for two-year terms. Democrats won nine of those seats and Republicans eight. That gave the Democrats a 20-13 margin in next year's Senate.

The four-year terms assure Democrats of 11 holdover senators to five Republicans in the 1961 Legislature. The Senate that year will have 38 members.

Of the 22 senators to be elected in 1960, 16 will be elected for four-year terms and six for two-year terms.

At least five of the 22 seats at stake in that election are in nominally Democratic districts. Nine are in districts that usually go Republican. If results in those districts go according to form, the Democrats, with their holdovers, would have a 16-14 advantage.

That would put Democrats in the position of needing to win only half of the other eight seats at stake to keep their Senate majority in the 104th Legislature. Republicans would need to win six of the eight to regain Senate control.

A Democratic sweep in the 1960 election would assure that party of Senate control and possibly continued domination of the House. Politicians expressed doubt that any swing back to the Republicans would be sufficient for the GOP to regain control of the Senate unless it was of landslide proportions.

Democrats will have 78 representatives in the next Ohio House to 61 Republicans. Republicans figure their chances are better in the House for the 1961 session.

In the 1959 Legislature, Republicans outnumbered Democrats 22-12 in the Senate and 97-42 in the House.

Four-year Senate terms resulted from voter approval of a change in the state constitution in the 1956 election. That ended regular two-year terms in the Senate without changing them for representatives.

The amendment provides for election of half the regular state senators to four-year terms every two years to provide for overlapping membership in the upper chamber.

The constitution provides for 33 state senatorial districts but there will be no election in the 30th-33rd district in 1960. That's because the district, which has two senators in the next session, will have only one in the 1961 session. Sen. Harry E. Schwall (R-Fulton) will be a four-year holdover. Sen. Tennyson Guyer (R-Hancock) was elected for only two years.

The population ratio for determining the number of senators in districts provides for 32 regular senators. Others are termed additional senators. The number of additional senators varies in some districts for various legislative sessions.

Additional senators in the 104th Legislature will come from these six districts with the principal county in parenthesis: 10th (Franklin), 11th - 12th (Miami), 17th-18th-19th-28th (Wayne), 20th-22nd (Jefferson), 21st (Stark) and 27th-29th (Lorain).

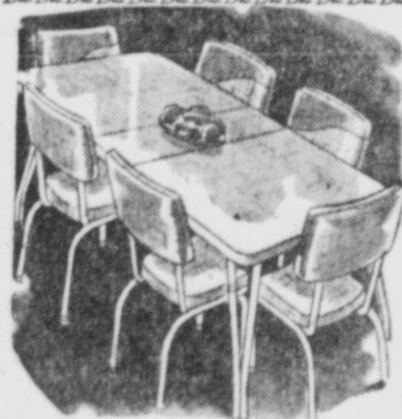

GREAT WHITE WAY—A lot of snow clearing had been done and still the Buffalo, N. Y., area looked like this after an 18-inch snowfall jammed up traffic. Snow was three feet deep in some places.

Clinton Base Making Plans To Build 536 Housing Units

WILMINGTON — Preliminary plans for the construction of 536 Capehart housing units at Clinton County Air Force Base are under way, Col. Frederic G. Huish, CCAFB Commander, announces.

The Air Force and an architectural engineering firm officials have been inspecting the base to determine the number of units needed and the location. Proposed plans for seeking 350 additional units have also been discussed. The officials have set August 1959 for the date to award the contracts for the first 536 units.

The Capehart housing units are to be constructed for the additional 3,190 military personnel that the Strategic Air Command will send to CCAFB early in 1960. Several million dollars worth of construction is underway at the base at the present time.

LOCATION of the housing units will be on a 148-acre plot to the south of the base. The homes will be split level, separate duplex with a front and back yard, utility and play room in the basement, living, dining room and kitchen on ground floor level.

One half level higher there will be two, three or four bedrooms and a bath. Present plans will accommodate 214 officer families and 322 airman families.

Edward C. Gabriel, FHA representative, explained the method for financing the project. The FHA will back the mortgage that will be purchased by a holding company and payment will be made to them by forfeiture of what is called living allowance that is allotted to each military family.

The Air Force will construct 53,643 Capehart units this fiscal year. USAF, facing shifting strength centers to man its missile sites and to disperse SAC units, got the lion's share of housing turned loose by the Defense Department.

The Army received 6,516 units and the Navy 4,744. A-1 were voted in Public Law 685 of the 85th Congress.

THE DOD Directive approving the housing made it clear that the services are to remain within the limits established by Defense in 1957 planning.

This limits on-base construction to 55 per cent of requirements for all personnel authorized housing, except at remote sites or other areas where a higher figure is dictated by military necessity.

Persons "authorized" housing are Staff sergeant and up, plus an A-1c with over seven years service. The Air Force wants to program housing for married lower grades as well.

Other Ohioans elected were John Burnside of Niles, trustee, and John Robertson of Alliance, outgoing president named trustee.

Ohio Public Utility Tax Payments Listed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's public utilities have paid an average of $9,214,201 a year in taxes since the Utilities Commission was created in 1913, the state treasurer's office reports. Altogether, the state has collected $423,853,255 over the 46-year period, the report said. Most of the money went into the state's general revenue fund.

Insurance Agents Get State Warning

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Insurance agents who are always late turning into their companies insurance premiums they collect from policy holders may have their licenses revoked, says State Insurance Supt. Arthur I. Vorys. Vorys said some auto insurance companies have resorted to cancelling policies on which they have not received premiums although the insured has paid the premium to the agent.

U. S. BERLIN STAND REAFFIRMED—While the East Berlin Communists were celebrating the 10th anniversary of the partitioning of Berlin, the U. S. stand against abandoning the city to any "free city" proposal which would make it a prey to the Reds was being reaffirmed in Augusta, Ga., where Secretary of State John Foster Dulles visited President Eisenhower. Emphasizing this stand was a statement by Gen. Henry Hodes, U. S. Army commander in Europe, who said in Berlin that the U. S. would treat a Communist blockade of Berlin as an attack on the U. S. itself.

Two More Rural Churches To Be Sold

By B. E. KELLEY

Two more rural churches, both Methodist, will soon be sold to the best bidder, and, in all probability, both will be moved or torn down like so many other little rural churches have been during the last 30 years.

This passing of rural houses of worship is due for the most part to the coming of automobiles and the centralization of churches just as the Little Red Schoolhouse has vanished from the scene because of centralization.

In horse and buggy days these little churches met a real community need, and, wherever they stood, helped brighten the world and helped build the high type of citizenship for which this community is noted.

This time the Buena Vista Methodist Church, in the village of Buena Vista, and Harmony Methodist Church on the Palmer Rd., six miles northwest of Washington C. H., are to be sold following action taken at the last Methodist Conference held at Lakeside.

THE BUENA VISTA church was abandoned two years ago, and the Harmony Church last year.

Sealed bids are now being received by Attorney Edmond S. Woodmansee preparatory to selling the two churches to the best bidders. The bids will be opened in about two weeks.

The Buena Vista Church is 100 years old, and the Harmony Church is 80 years old.

Both buildings are frame, about 50 by 36 feet, and in surprisingly good condition.

Residents of the Buena Vista community formed an organization as early as 1831 — 1832, and used a schoolhouse which stood on Rattlesnake Creek bank as their meeting place. The building also was used by voters of the township.

AN ARTICLE compiled by the late Emery Harper, and read at a homecoming years ago, gives the following history of the church.

"On the 7th day of December, 1847, a tract of ground was purchased from Thomas Moon and wife for the sum of $5 by the following persons who were known as the Moon Class and Trustees on which to build a church to be called the Moons M. E. Church.

"The purchasers and organizers were Thomas Moon, William Blair, George Knedler, William K. Watson, Michael B. Petty, Squire Kimble and Samuel Binegar. The deed was drawn by Daniel Pavay, J. P., and witnessed by Eliza J. Moon.

"This church was used for worship for a period of 10 years when another tract of ground joining the original was purchased from Thomas Moon and wife for the sum of $5 on which was erected the present building, which is much larger than the original.

"THE FOLLOWING persons were trustees and purchasers of the new building: Samuel Goodnight, Jonah Marchant, Thomas G. Johnson, George Knedler, Thomas Moon, William Marchant, John Capps.

"The deed was drawn by James W. Burton, J. P., and witnessed by Hugh McNeil on Aug. 16, 1858."

After the new church was completed the old building was moved to the lot on which the Theobald store building stands. (Note — It is now occupied by the William Roberts store).

"The building was used as a store and postoffice for a number of years, John Michner being the postmaster in charge."

It seems when the village ceased to be known as Moons the church changed its name to Buena Vista M. E. Church.

The church is on the east side of Main St. in the village and is the last building on the south side of the town.

HARMONY M. P. (later M.E.) Church, six miles west of Washington C. H. on the Palmer Rd. at

CENTURY OLD CHURCH--Buena Vista Methodist Church will soon be sold to highest bidder. It was abandoned two years ago. The ground on which this church stands cost $5 a century ago.

CHURCH IS DOOMED--Harmony Methodist Church (formerly a Methodist Protestant house of worship) and now a part of the Washington C. H. Circuit, is to be sold in near future after serving community for years.

the Harmony Rd. intersection, dates back to 1878 when James Baughn gave the land for the construction of a union church.

William Miller, Plymouth, was in charge of construction of the building.

Heading the subscriptions were L. C. Mallow, William Dice, Zebulon Smith and others. Parishioners donated time and efforts in building the structure.

Regardless of church affiliations, nearly everyone in the neighborhood contributed toward building the little country church in Jasper Township.

Early information states that the church cost $1,500.

LOU MALLOW and William Dice were among the substantial contributors to the project, and Lister Baughn assisted in placing the framework in the church and finishing it.

During the early years of the church an itinerant preacher from Pennsylvania, who rode a gray horse, stopped at the church once each year and conducted services. He also visited many other churches in the same way.

Among early pastors serving the church were: the Rev. Joel Dalby, first minister; the Rev. John Dalby, the Rev. Jason Hinkle and the Rev. Thomas B. Cheney. Joel and John Dalby were brothers of Will R. Dalby, former Washington C. H. newspaper man.

The Dunkards held their services in the church in the early days of its existence, and the Rev. Mr. Tombaugh, who served the old Fairview Dunkard Church charge. The Dunkards used the church for a number of years.

The church was abandoned as a place of worship in 1957, and at the last conference it was voted to dispose of the building and apply the proceeds to the parsonage of the Washington C. H. Methodist Church Circuit, of which it had been a part for many years.

Much of the foregoing information was obtained from files at the Carnegie Library, compiled by Mrs. Mary Jo Hackett, assistant librarian.

Ohio's George McConaughy Listed as Having Clean Slate

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI agents have investigated rumors about George C. McConaughy of Ohio. So has a House Commerce Subcommittee.

In both cases the question was the same: Was there any foundation to rumors that McConaughy, as former chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, wanted money for his vote in the award of a Pittsburgh television permit?

The stories—after thorough investigation—remain as unsubstantiated as ever. The House subcommittee can't even find who started them.

As for McConaughy, now a Columbus lawyer, he has steadfastly voiced denials. He has said:

"There has never been anything that's hurt me and hurt my family like this thing. It is a perfectly horrible thing based upon fallacious, vicious rumors."

But the subcommittee staff—despite criticism from some people that McConaughy was unfairly treated—insists that the investigation was proper.

The staff members say some questionable practices in the issuance of television licenses were uncovered and there was no interest in personalities one way or another.

Even apart from the rumor aspect of the case, the Pittsburgh television investigation has turned up a fair amount of conflicting testimony.

For example, there was the luncheon conversation between McConaughy and Earl F. Reed, a Pittsburgh lawyer, in May 1957.

Both agree the lunch was held at Reed's request. They say Reed, as head of one of the applicants for the permit, Television City, wanted to know if the proceedings couldn't be hurried along.

But McConaughy also says Reed told him he might be able to give some law business to McConaughy's son, a Columbus lawyer now in business with his father.

"I changed the subject very quickly," McConaughy testified. "I considered it no more than a blowing off. It wasn't an offer of a bribe, in my opinion."

"I never let it get any further than just that comment. I stopped it."

What does Reed say about this?

The Record-Herald Wednesday, Dec. 3, 1958
Washington C. H., Ohio

He was asked by Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss.):

"Then you can say categorically that he did not try to stop the conversation?"

"That is true," Reed replied. "He did not."

Reed's version of the conversation was that McConaughy told him about his son practicing in Columbus and said that he, McConaughy, was leaving the government as of June 30.

"At no time did he ask me for anything," Reed said. "But I rather felt, like a lot of people going out of government service, he was making some contacts . . ."

McConaughy says he did not tell Reed when he planned to leave the government—saying that announcement was up to the White House.

Luther Childs Cromwell was the inventor of paper bags. He obtained a patent for them in May, 1867.

Two More Rural Churches To Be Sold

By B. E. KELLEY

Two more rural churches, both Methodist, will soon be sold to the best bidder, and, in all probability, both will be moved or torn down like so many other little rural churches have been during the last 30 years.

This passing of rural houses of worship is due for the most part to the coming of automobiles and the centralization of churches just as the Little Red Schoolhouse has vanished from the scene because of centralization.

In horse and buggy days these little churches met a real community need, and, wherever they stood, helped brighten the world and helped build the high type of citizenship for which this community is noted.

This time the Buena Vista Methodist Church, in the village of Buena Vista, and Harmony Methodist Church on the Palmer Rd., six miles northwest of Washington C. H., are to be sold following action taken at the last Methodist Conference held at Lakeside.

THE BUENA VISTA church was abandoned two years ago, and the Harmony Church last year.

Sealed bids are now being received by Attorney Edmond S. Woodmansee preparatory to selling the two churches to the best bidders. The bids will be opened in about two weeks.

The Buena Vista Church is 100 years old, and the Harmony Church is 80 years old.

Both buildings are frame, about 50 by 36 feet, and in surprisingly good condition.

Residents of the Buena Vista community formed an organization as early as 1831 — 1832, and used a schoolhouse which stood on Rattlesnake Creek bank as their meeting place. The building also was used by voters of the township.

AN ARTICLE compiled by the late Emory Harper, and read at a homecoming years ago, gives the following history of the church.

"On the 7th day of December, 1847, a tract of ground was purchased from Thomas Moon and wife for the sum of $5 by the following persons who were known as the Moon Class and Trustees on which to build a church to be called the Moons M. E. Church.

"The purchasers and organizers were Thomas Moon, William Blair, George Knedler, William K. Watson, Michael B. Petty, Squire Kimble and Samuel Binegar. The deed was drawn by Daniel Pavey, J. P., and witnessed by Eliza J. Moon.

"This church was used for worship for a period of 10 years when another tract of ground joining the original was purchased from Thomas Moon and wife for the sum of $5 on which was erected the present building, which is much larger than the original.

"THE FOLLOWING persons were trustees and purchasers of the new building: Samuel Goodnight, Jonah Marchant, Thomas G. Johnson, George Knedler, Thomas Moon, William Marchant, John Capps.

"The deed was drawn by James W. Burton, J. P., and witnessed by Hugh McNeil on Aug. 16, 1858."

After the new church was completed the old building was moved to the lot on which the Theobald store building stands. (Note — It is now occupied by the William Roberts store).

"The building was used as a store and postoffice for a number of years, John Michner being the postmaster in charge."

It seems when the village ceased to be known as Moons the church changed its name to Buena Vista M. E. Church.

The church is on the east side of Main St. in the village and is the last building on the south side of the town.

HARMONY M. P. (later ME.) Church, six miles west of Washington C. H. on the Palmer Rd. at

CENTURY OLD CHURCH--Buena Vista Methodist Church will soon be sold to highest bidder. It was abandoned two years ago. The ground on which this church stands cost $5 a century ago.

CHURCH IS DOOMED--Harmony Methodist Church (formerly a Methodist Protestant house of worship) and now a part of the Washington C. H. Circuit, is to be sold in near future after serving community for years.

the Harmony Rd. intersection, dates back to 1878 when James Baughn gave the land for the construction of a union church.

William Miller, Plymouth, was in charge of construction of the building.

Heading the subscriptions were L. C. Mallow, William Dice, Zebulon Smith and others. Parishioners donated time and efforts in building the structure.

Regardless of church affiliations, nearly everyone in the neighborhood contributed toward building the little country church in Jasper Township.

Early information states that the church cost $1,500.

LOU MALLOW and William Dice were among the substantial contributors to the project, and Lister Bauhn assisted in placing the framework in the church and finishing it.

During the early years of the church an itinerant preacher from Pennsylvania, who rode a gray horse, stopped at the church once each year and conducted services. He also visited many other churches in the same way.

Among early pastors serving the church were: the Rev. Joel Dalby, first minister; the Rev. John Dalby, the Rev. Jason Hinkle and the Rev. Thomas B. Cheney. Joel and John Dalby were brothers of Will R. Dalby, former Washington C. H. newspaper man.

The Dunkards held their services in the church in the early days of its existence, and the Rev. Mr. Tombaugh, who served the old Fairview Dunkard Church charge. The Dunkards used the church for a number of years.

Ohio's George McConaughy Listed as Having Clean Slate

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI agents have investigated rumors about George C. McConaughy of Ohio. So has a House Commerce Subcommittee.

In both cases the question was the same: Was there any foundation to rumors that McConaughy, as former chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, wanted money for his vote in the award of a Pittsburgh television permit?

The stories—after thorough investigation—remain as unsubstantiated as ever. The House subcommittee can't even find who started them.

As for McConaughy, now a Columbus lawyer, he has steadfastly voiced denials. He has said:

"There has never been anything that's hurt me and hurt my family like this thing. It is a perfectly horrible thing based upon fallacious, vicious rumors."

But the subcommittee staff—despite criticism from some people that McConaughy was unfairly treated—insists that the investigation was proper.

The staff members say some questionable practices in the issuance of television licenses were uncovered and there was no interest in personalities one way or another.

Even apart from the rumor aspect of the case, the Pittsburgh television investigation has turned up a fair amount of conflicting testimony.

For example, there was the luncheon conversation between McConaughy and Earl F. Reed, a Pittsburgh lawyer, in May 1957.

Both agree the lunch was held at Reed's request. They say Reed, as head of one of the applicants for the permit, Television City, wanted to know if the proceedings couldn't be hurried along.

But McConaughy also says Reed told him he might be able to give some law business to McConaughy's son, a Columbus lawyer now in business with his father.

"I changed the subject very quickly," McConaughy testified. "I considered it no more than a blowing off. It wasn't an offer of a bribe, in my opinion."

"I never let it get any further than just that comment. I stopped it."

What does Reed say about this?

The Record-Herald Wednesday, Dec. 3, 1958
Washington C. H. Ohio

He was asked by Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss):

"Then you can say categorically that he did not try to stop the conversation?"

"That is true," Reed replied.

"He did not."

Reed's version of the conversation was that McConaughy told him about his son practicing in Columbus and said that he, McConaughy, was leaving the government as of June 30.

"At no time did he ask me for anything," Reed said. "But I rather felt, like a lot of people going out of government service, he was making some contacts . . ."

McConaughy says he did not tell Reed when he planned to leave the government—saying that announcement was up to the White House.

Luther Childs Cromwell was the inventor of paper bags. He obtained a patent for them in May, 1867.

Half Wanted Back

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) — R. P. McCord would like to get a half back, but not the football kind. He received a dollar bill as change at a store and found that it had been torn in two, then pinned together. On the way home he lost half of the bill.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

For a long, long time thousands of folks have been walking over slabs of fossils right here in Washington C. H. and paying little or no attention to them.

These slabs of fossils are in the sidewalk in front of the Washington Paint and Glass store and Prudential Life Insurance Co. office on N. Fayette St. They have withstood the wear and tear of hundreds of thousands of feet during the 80 years or more they have been part of the sidewalk.

Not only one slab of limestone but many of them, nearly all literally packed with many kinds of crustacea, are in evidence, and the fossils show up at their best when the sidewalk is wet.

These brachiopods, and plant and animal life, are so numerous in most of the limestone slabs that they literally crowd each other for space.

I believe there are at least a dozen different kinds of fossils visible in the slabs and in all probability none of them are less than 100 million years old.

Fossils were so named from the latin word fossilis, which means "dug up", and may be either animal or vegetable. Some of them are 500 million years old.

Early histories of Fayette County indicate that all of the limestone slabs came from an outcrop some of which contained fossils, in the Rock Mills area.

Most of the limestone used in the slabs which formerly were in the sidewalks in the city, were without fossils, but were peculiarly marked due to the fact before the lime "one fully hardened in prehistoric times cracks in the stone were filled with other deposits, giving a different color.

When stone foundations and stone for other building purposes was much in demand upward of a century ago, the two or three quarries in and near Rock Mills, including a large one at Cedarhurst, supplied most of the stone.

Some of the sidewalk fossils are several inches in diameter, and others are very small. They are interesting to say the least, and certainly bear inspection as being among the best examples of fossilized rock in Ohio.

30 YEARS AGO

Funds distributed in Christmas Savings Clubs here totaled $80,000.

A Chilean earthquake killed hundreds and left thousands homeless. During November temperatures ranged from 18 to 74 above zero.

Leo Katz & Co., clothiers, announced a liquidating sale and that the new business would be conducted by Milton Katz.

Mrs. Ace Gregg, 84, widow of Judge Ace Gregg, died.

Council took steps to refund $150,000 in bonds falling due in 1929, issuing new bonds to retire the old.

Fayette Producers announced plans for large plant, including offices on Delaware St.

Efforts were being made to obtain a naval air base here to accommodate huge dirigibles when not in flight.

A Hobby Fair was announced for the YMCA building, with many exhibitors to take part.

City tax rate (in face of refunding $150,000 in bonds falling due) was to be reduced from 18.50 mills to 17.70 mill.

Sheep claims reached $2, 636.50, and dog tag fees were to be raised to pay the claims.

The Rev. W. H. Harble, pastor of New Holland and Atlanta Methodist Churches, suddenly disappeared and was said to be at home of his brother near Logan. His leaving was without advance notice.

Sheriff-elect O. S. Minton announced that R. S. Ramsay and Coke Vincent would be his deputies.

Glenn B. Rogers was nominated for the position of postmaster at Washington C. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Brown, High St., narrowly escaped when a .38 calibre bullet crashed through the side of their home and struck a wall.

WHEN CITY WAS YOUNG

An old Travelers Guide, published in Columbus 121 years ago, had this to say about Washington C. H.

"Washington is a post town. Postoffice called Washington Ct. House) and seat of justice for Fayette County. It has a printing office, seven stores, two taverns, two groceries, a schoolhouse, and about 70 dwelling houses. Population about 300."

Court Case Backlog Slashed in November

Only 81 cases were pending in Common Pleas Court as December got under way—a drop of 11 under the number pending on Nov. 1.

While 12 new cases, nine of them domestic relations matters and three other types of civil actions, were filed in November, a total of 23 cases were disposed of during the 30-day period.

Thirteen of the dispositions were in domestic relations cases, nine were in other types of civil litigation and one was a criminal case.

The backlog on Dec. 1 was made up of 38 domestic relations cases, 40 other civil actions and three criminal cases.

Of the 23 cases disposed of during the month, 14 were tried to the court, seven were settled and dismissed and two were cognovit judgments.

There were no new traffic point cases during the month.

Thirteen Fayette County cases were pending in the Second District Court of Appeals on Dec. 1.

There were no cases and no dispositions during the previous 30 days.

Court Case Backlog Slashed in November

Only 81 cases were pending in Common Pleas Court as December got under way—a drop of 11 under the number pending on Nov. 1.

While 12 new cases, nine of them domestic relations matters and three other types of civil actions, were filed in November, a total of 23 cases were disposed of during the 30-day period.

Thirteen of the dispositions were in domestic relations cases, nine were in other types of civil litigation and one was a criminal case.

The backlog on Dec. 1 was made up of 38 domestic relations cases, 40 other civil actions and three criminal cases.

Of the 23 cases disposed of during the month, 14 were tried to the court, seven were settled and dismissed and two were cognovit judgments. There were no new traffic point cases during the month. Thirteen Fayette County cases were pending in the Second District Court of Appeals on Dec. 1. There were no cases and no dispositions during the previous 30 days.

Baseball Bonus, Draft Policy Showdown Near

Haves, Have-Nots Due
To Tangle on Vital Issues at Powwow

WASHINGTON (AP)—A battle between the haves and have-nots over baseball's bonus and draft practices built up to its first showdown at the major-minor league meetings today.

The minors scheduled a vote on three proposals designed in different fashion to reduce what Commissioner Ford Frick has described as crazy handouts of thousands of dollars in bonuses to young players.

Major league clubs will act later this week.

The clubs that have—those with well-stocked treasuries and farm systems—want to limit the draft. The clubs that haven't want more of a chance to pick up promising players from leagues of lower classification.

Proposals up for decision by the 24 minor leagues would:

1. Expose all minor league players to the draft forever after their first year in organized baseball.

2. Expose them after the first year, but if not chosen at that time keep them off the eligible list until they have played four years.

3. Restore a modified version of the old bonus rule which would require major league clubs to retain for two full seasons any player signed for a bonus of more than $5,000.

The New York Yankees submitted this last proposition in an effort to minimize bonus payments but block what they consider grave threats to farm systems and support of minor league teams and capable youngsters. The Yankees say either of the other plans would create just such a threat.

Support mounted for the second proposal, entered by the Los Angeles Dodgers. The Triple-A International League and American Assn. were among those favoring this compromise settlement.

Frank Lane, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, campaigned for the forever-after procedure. Lane said it would help equalize the strength of major league teams and mollify congressional critics of baseball practices by increasing the opportunity for advancement of minor league players.

Players are now eligible for big league draft after four seasons in the minors.

Jim Brown Still Holds Pro Lead

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Have the defenses caught up with Cleveland's Jimmy Brown?

The powerful back gained only 12 yards last Sunday, his lowest output in the two seasons he's been in the National Football League.

But the brilliant Brown still leads in the ground gaining division with a record 1,241 yards, 95 better than the previous record set by Steve Van Buren.

He also didn't score in Cleveland's victory over Washington, but he still leads the individual scoring with 102 points. Lenny Moore, Baltimore, scored once to take second place with 78 points.

AN INNOVATION—Westerville Coach Ralph Readout surprised Washington C. H. fans with a new gadget in Tuesday night's game but it didn't work well enough to pull the game out of the bag. Readout equipped his boys on the bench with headphones and spoke to them through a microphone throughout the game, pointing out the errors of both teams.

'The Rocket' Scores 600th Hockey Goal To Set Record

Editor's Note: One of the all time greats of sports is drawing toward the close of an illustrious career. He is Maurice (The Rocket) Richard of the Montreal Canadiens. He has scored 600 goals in big league hockey, an all-time high. Richard is to hockey what Ty Cobb and Babe Ruth are to baseball, Joe Louis and Jack Dempsey to boxing, or Jim Thorpe and Ernie Nevers to football.

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Goalie to the left of him, defenseman in front of him, another milestone ahead of him and then into the enemy net went the 600th.

This is the way Maurice (The Rocket) Richard—pronounced "Ree-shard"—of the Montreal Canadiens reached another high point in a career that has carried him to world prominence as the premier star of major league ice hockey.

His 600th National Hockey League goal last Wednesday night brought a standing ovation from the capacity crowd of 16,000 in Madison Square Garden. His nearest rival is Gordie Howe of the Detroit Redwings, slightly under 500.

When he sent the puck past the New York Ranger goalie, his linemates skated quickly to embrace him.

Maurice did not smile. He rarely does.

Richard is revered by his teammates and the wildly partisan crowds in Montreal. He is respected by opposing players and the fans in the United States. And he is disliked by the many newspapermen to whom he has given the cold shoulder and an icy stare.

At 37, he is the same serious man he was when he broke in with the Canadiens 16 years ago. He has the same burning desire to win.

"I hate to lose," he said. "When I'm in a slump or the team is going bad I can't sleep. I lie awake thinking what I did wrong and how I could have played better."

Richard, a native of Montreal, has four brothers and three sisters. As a youth he knew hard times.

"My father was out of work. Relatives and friends pitched in to help us out," he explained.

"In all of my spare time I played hockey in the parks in Montreal. Things did not come naturally to me. I had to practice and practice. And I was determined to make good."

His fierce determination carried him to his present position. And it enabled him to break the all-time big league record of 324 goals and his 10th season, score 50 goals and break the season record in 1944-1945; produce 81 game-winning goals; and score 12 goals in one Stanley Cup playoff series for another record.

His explosive temperament, motivated by an almost fanatical desire to let nothing stand in his way of scoring a goal, has cost him more than $2,500 in fines.

"I think those days are over now," Richard said. "I'm too old to fight. I let the others do it. All I want to do is score."

"There are so few incentives left. I've got my 600th goal. I'll never get up."

But one also gets the feeling that Richard has made up his mind not to retire until he has made certain that Howe cannot take from him his proud possession—the rank of the greatest scorer of all time.

Cleveland Browns Captain Don Colo Planning To Retire

CLEVELAND (AP)—Tackle Don Colo, captain of the Cleveland Browns, says he is retiring from professional football at the end of this season.

"I have been thinking about the move for sometime but made the decision only a few weeks back," said the 6-4 255-pound defensive lineman. He will go to work with a local trucking firm.

Colo is the second veteran Browns' defender to announce his retirement. Halfback Don Paul said recently this is his last season.

After last Sunday's game with the Washington Redskins, Colo told Coach Paul Brown of his plans. Colo said he wanted Brown to know before the player draft held in Philadelphia on Monday.

"I figured my retirement might make some difference in his draft plans," said Colo, a veteran of nine years in pro football. He was traded to Cleveland by the Baltimore the draft so we could plan accordingly."

The 33-year-old Colo, a graduate of Brown University, is one of the few Ivy Leaguers in professional football.

Looking back at his pro career Colo picked Bobby Layne, Pittsburgh Steelers' quarterback, as one of the finest competitors he has faced.

Professional football is changing, Colo said and added:

"Biggest (change) is in the personnel. The players are bigger, faster and better."

Comparing the Browns with other National Football League teams, Colo observed:

"Paul Brown and his staff are more thorough in everything they do. Other coaches are copying and catching up, but the Browns are still ahead."

Said Coach Brown: "His play has been important to us and we'll miss him."

"This is a decision every player must make sometime. It was typical of Don that he let us know be-

Of this year's Browns, Colo added:

"There are a lot of young fellows on this team still improving. I'll say this, though. It's the finest I've ever been with for coming from behind. This team never gives up."

Professional football is changing, Colo said and added: "Biggest (change) is in the personnel. The players are bigger, faster and better."

Comparing the Browns with other National Football League teams, Colo observed: "Paul Brown and his staff are more thorough in everything they do. Other coaches are copying and catching up, but the Browns are still ahead."

Flee Stops Westerville in Overtime As Lions Fight Back to 52-50 Score

A Flee bite knocked out five Westerville fighters and climaxed an outstanding fourth quarter drive which brought the WHS Lions a 52-50 sudden - death overtime victory Tuesday night.

Worked into a near frenzy by a first - half zone press which accounted for a Westerville lead of 10 points at the end of the first quarter, the Lions came alive in the last half and tied the score at 48 - 48 on Pete Pfersick's foul shot with 11 seconds to go.

The rest of the show was all Marlyn Flee's who came in as forward in the third quarter and made six points before the game went into overtime.

Flee first tied the score after Terry O'Keefe of the Wildcats had put them ahead in the five minute overtime.

THEN, WITH 30 SECONDS gone of the three-minutes sudden death period, Flee drove in and up and the game was over.

For his efforts, he won a starting berth in the game against Wilmington Friday night, Coach Gene Millard said.

Millard said he was dissatisfied with the Lions' showing even though they did stick in the game and fight all the way.

Although they practiced against a full - press defense during the week, the boys became flustered when Westerville Coach Ralph Readout used a press - zone defense in which his guards pressed the Lion guards bringing the ball out.

That defense and first - home-game jitters made the Lions throw the ball away many times and accounted mostly for a 15 - 5 Westerville lead at the end of the first quarter.

The Lions came back a little stronger in the second period, outscoring the Wildcats 16 - 14 but fell back in the third period to a 43-32 score.

Then came the onslaught in the last period in which the Lions, finally playing like a confident team and making the other team make mistakes, came up with 16 important points while limiting Westerville to five.

Two partial reasons for the charge was that Westerville had abandoned its press zone defense in the second half and was using a man - to - man defense. Also, by the latter part of the fourth period, four of the starting Wildcats had been taken out of the game on fouls.

Fouls, the cause of last week's losing effort at Bexley for the Lions, turned out to be the winning factor Tuesday but only because they were giving so many shots.

The Lions scored on 14 of 33 shots while the Wildcats were limited to 14 shots and made four.

Turnovers, another Lion enigma last week, reared its ugly head again Tuesday until the team started to jell in the latter part of the third quarter.

THE LIONS THREW the ball away 20 times without getting a shot. Millard was dissatisfied when they threw away 15 at Bexley, saying they couldn't win against a good team with more than six turnovers.

The inexperienced defense was still spotty, Millard said, and the boys didn't shift with the plays the way they should.

However, all was not gloomy in the spectacular win. Tom Seaman, who played most of the reserve game and scored 12 points, scored four points while playing in the last quarter and proved to be an excellent play-maker, Millard said.

The win gave the Lions a 1-1 record for the season. They will play their first league game against Wilmington in Washington C. H. Friday night.

THE BOYS LOOK as if they are still tight, Millard said, and he hopes they loosen up by then.

Westerville was playing in its first game of the season and had many good points to look at. Forward Ron Meyer, high scorer of the game with 20 points, was especially deadly in the first quarter on set shots, accounting for 10 of Westerville's first 15 points.

Bob Schneider, a speedy and crafty guard, gave the Lions headaches also until he was taken out of the game on fouls near the end of the game.

The reserves didn't have nearly the same trouble with Westerville as the senior team did. The Lions rolled over the Wildcats 53-22, giving Coach Marvin Merritt much satisfaction and Millard much hope for depth of the varsity in the future.

Seaman, Wilson and Reno all scored 12 points in the WHS romp.

AP's Little All-America Team Named

NEW YORK (AP) — From 11 schools which lost only a total of 20 football games comes The Associated Press Little All America for 1958.

The players from schools in 10 states form a speedy, hard hitting backfield averaging 186 pounds and a rock-ribbed line that tips the scales at an average of 207. Ten of the first team are seniors. The lone junior is Carlos Gonzales, whose play at guard was a big factor in California Poly's 8-1-0 record.

Forming the backfield are John Green of Chattanooga, which lost 4 of its 10 games but beat Tennessee; Sam McCord of East Texas State; Robert Webb of St. Ambrose and Edward Meador of Arkansas Tech. East Texas wound up with an 8-1-0 record, St. Ambrose 3-4-1 and Arkansas Tech 7-2.

Paired at guard with Gonzales is Charles Davis of McMurry (6-4). The tackles are Richard Emerich of West Chester Teachers, whose 10-game schedule was marred only by an opening game loss to Villanova, and Robert Baake of Wheaton (9-0-0). The center is William Long of Willamette (8-1-0).

Flanking the line are ends Robert Yencho of Mississippi Southern (9-0-0) and Tom Taylor of Albion (6-2).

Heaviest man on the first team, which has sent many of its members on to fame in the professional ranks in past years, is Gonzales at 230 pounds.

McCord is the lightest man in the backfield at 172 pounds, Webb the heaviest at 201.

Heisman Prize Goes to Army Football Star

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — "Flabbergasted!"

That was the comment today of the first captain and brigade commander of the Corps of Cadets, the president of the first (senior) class, and the captain of the Army football team on the selection of Pete Dawkins as winner of the Heisman Trophy as the outstanding college football player of 1958.

Just in case you think they stifle individual expression at the Academy, the comment was made by one man who holds all of those honors on the Plains — Pete Dawkins. He also sings and will travel. He wants to join the Air Force when commissioned in June.

"Flabbergasted" was Pete Dawkins but no one else at this gray fortress on the Hudson where the cheers still echo from Army's great undefeated season and resounding victory over Navy.

"He is an inspirational leader and well deserving of the award," said Col. Earl (Red) Blaik, the Army coach.

"It's wonderful to hear about it," said Dawkins. "I want to thank everyone concerned and specially to a great gang of fellows on our team and Col. Blaik for making it all possible."

The versatile, 20-year old half-back from Royal Oak, Mich., won the Heisman Trophy by a substantial margin in the voting by 1,191 sports writers and sportscasters. The nationwide poll was conducted by the Downtown A.C. He will receive his trophy at the club's annual dinner at the Downtown A.C. Wednesday, Dec. 10.

Dawkins received 296 first-place votes and 1,394 points. Randy Duncan, quarterback of Iowa's Big Ten champions, was second (194 and 1,021) and halfback Billy Cannon of Louisiana State, No. 1 team in The Associated Press poll, (198 and 975).

The New England Confederacy established extradition between states in 1643.

Spider Webb Wins Award for Boxing

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The National Boxing Assn. today gave its boxer-of-the-month award to Chicago's Spider Webb, winner of the only major bout staged in November.

Fred J. Saddy, chairman of the NBA's rating committee, said Webb's selection was automatic because "top flight boxing competition was so scarce."

Webb stopped Joey Giardello of Philadelphia in the seventh round of their scheduled 10-rounder at San Francisco's Cow Palace Nov. 20. Giardello looked as though he had been put through a meat chopper.

Jeff Tiger Cagers Win But Bulldogs Nosed Out

Fayette County basketball teams broke even against non-league opponents Tuesday night. Only two of the five county teams were in action and both played away from home.

Jeffersonville's Tigers racked up their third victory in six games this season when they outlasted the boys at New Vienna to win 68 to 63, but Bloomingburg's Bulldogs lost another squeaker, 53 to 52, at Lees Creek to the Simon Kenton High School cagers.

Another Close Game Lost by Bloomingburg

Inability to hit the hoops cost Bloomingburg's Bulldogs a victory as they were nosed out 53 to 52 by Simon Kenton at Lees Creek Tuesday night.

This was the fourth defeat in five games for the Bulldogs and the third one that was lost by 4 points or less.

Coach Everett Rudolph said he felt that the youth and inexperience of the Bulldogs was largely responsible for the loss of the close games. But, he pointed out "they're getting better — are showing more poise and confidence."

"The boys were missing layups in this game that have been easy for them in the other games," Rudolph said and added that this "was just one of those things you can't account for. . . maybe they were trying too hard."

The Bulldogs went right to the front at the start of the game and were leading 37-19 at the half, but the Simon Kenton boom was lowered on them in the third period to tie the score at 43-41.

The Bloomingburg Reserves won the preliminary, 30 to 25. Joe Knisley set the pace with 10 points and Lonnie Ayres was close behind with 9. Larry Woods did a good job of rebounding.

Jeffersonville Cagers Win at New Vienna

Hitting 40 per cent of their shots from the field and an amazing 70 per cent from the foul line, Jeffersonville's Tigers trounced the boys at New Vienna, 68 to 65, Tuesday night in a non-league game.

Jim Cook, hotter than a fire-cracker in the first half against the New Vienna zone defense, netted 24 points on 11 field goals in 16 shots and 2 free throws. After he had tallied 20 points in the first two periods, New Vienna went into a four - man zone with the fifth sticking to Cook like a leech. While that strategy checked Cook, it left his mates open for more shots.

John Davis, who went in the game in the third period, got 8 points, all on free throws. When New Vienna put on an all - court press, he was fouled nine times and made good 8 of his charity tosses.

Cook and Dale Evans were especially effective under the boards, picking off one rebound after another.

Cooper and Baker posed a constant outside and inside threat against the Tiger zone defense. Cooper hit seven from the outside and Baker six from the inside.

Coach George Green described the win as a "team victory" and praised the Tigers for their aggressive spirit and determination. "With those two qualities," he said, "they'll come along and overcome the handicap of inexperience."

The Jeffersonville Reserves did not fare so well as their big brothers. They lost the preliminary, 46 to 27. Jim Bush led the attack with 12 points. One of the bright spots in the loss was the accuracy of the Tiger Reserves at the foul line. They made 11 of 15 free throws.

AP's Little All-America Team Named

NEW YORK (AP) — From 11 schools which lost only a total of 20 football games comes The Associated Press Little All America for 1958.

The players from schools in 10 states form a speedy, hard hitting backfield averaging 186 pounds and a rock-ribbed line that tips the scales at an average of 207. Ten of the first team are seniors. The lone junior is Carlos Gonzales, whose play at guard was a big factor in California Poly's 8-1-0 record.

Forming the backfield are John Green of Chattanooga, which lost 4 of its 10 games but beat Tennessee; Sam McCord of East Texas State; Robert Webb of St. Ambrose and Edward Meador of Arkansas Tech. East Texas wound up with an 8-1-0 record, St. Ambrose 3-4-1 and Arkansas Tech 7-2.

Paired at guard with Gonzales is Charles Davis of McMurry (6-4). The tackles are Richard Emerich of West Chester Teachers, whose 10-game schedule was marred only by an opening game loss to Villanova, and Robert Baake of Wheaton (9-0-0). The center is William Long of Willamette (8-1-0).

Flanking the line are ends Robert Yencho of Mississippi Southern (9-0-0) and Tom Taylor of Albion (6-2).

Heaviest man on the first team, which has sent many of its members on to fame in the professional ranks in past years, is Gonzales at 230 pounds.

McCord is the lightest man in the backfield at 172 pounds, Webb the heaviest at 201.

Heisman Prize Goes to Army Football Star

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — "Flabbergasted"

That was the comment today of the first captain and brigade commander of the Corps of Cadets, the president of the first (senior) class, and the captain of the Army football team on the selection of Pete Dawkins as winner of the Heisman Trophy as the outstanding college football player of 1958.

Just in case you think they stifle individual expression at the Academy, the comment was made by one man who holds all of those honors on the Plains — Pete Dawkins. He also sings and will travel. He wants to join the Air Force when commissioned in June.

"Flabbergasted" was Pete Dawkins but no one else at this gray fortress on the Hudson where the cheers still echo from Army's great undefeated season and resounding victory over Navy.

"He is an inspirational leader and well deserving of the award," said Col. Earl (Red) Blaik, the Army coach.

"It's wonderful to hear about it," said Dawkins. "I want to thank everyone concerned and specially to a great gang of fellows on our team and Col. Blaik for making it all possible."

The versatile, 20-year old half-back from Royal Oak, Mich., won the Heisman Trophy by a substantial margin in the voting by 1,191 sports writers and sportscasters. The nationwide poll was conducted by the Downtown A.C. He will receive his trophy at the club's annual dinner at the Downtown A.C. Wednesday, Dec. 10.

Dawkins received 296 first-place votes and 1,394 points. Randy Duncan, quarterback of Iowa's Big Ten champions, was second (194 and 1,021) and halfback Billy Cannon of Louisiana State, No. 1 team in The Associated Press poll, (198 and 975).

The New England Confederacy established extradition between states in 1643.

Spider Webb Wins Award for Boxing

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The National Boxing Assn. today gave its boxer-of-the-month award to Chicago's Spider Webb, winner of the only major bout staged in November.

Fred J. Saddy, chairman of the NBA's rating committee, said Webb's selection was automatic because "top flight boxing competition was so scarce."

Webb stopped Joey Giardello of Philadelphia in the seventh round of their scheduled 10-rounder at San Francisco's Cow Palace Nov. 20. Giardello looked as though he had been put through a meat chopper.

Jeff Tiger Cagers Win But Bulldogs Nosed Out

Fayette County basketball teams broke even against non-league opponents Tuesday night. Only two of the five county teams were in action and both played away from home.

Jeffersonville's Tigers racked up their third victory in six games this season when they outlasted the boys at New Vienna to win 68 to 63, but Bloomingburg's Bulldogs lost another squeaker, 53 to 52, at Lees Creek to the Simon Kenton High School cagers.

Another Close Game Lost by Bloomingburg

Inability to hit the hoops cost Bloomingburg's Bulldogs a victory as they were nosed out 53 to 52 by Simon Kenton at Lees Creek Tuesday night.

This was the fourth defeat in five games for the Bulldogs and the third one that was lost by 4 points or less.

Coach Everett Rudolph said he felt that the youth and inexperience of the Bulldogs was largely responsible for the loss of the close games. But, he pointed out "they're getting better — are showing more poise and confidence."

"The boys were missing layups in this game that have been easy for them in the other a.m.s," Rudolph said and added that this "was just one of those things you can't account for... maybe they were trying too hard."

The Bulldogs went right to the front at the start of the game and were leading 37-19 at the half, but the Simon Kenton boom was lowered on them in the third period to tie the score at 43-43.

The Bloomingburg Reserves won the preliminary, 30 to 25. Joe Knisley set the pace with 10 points and Lonnie Ayres was close behind with 9. Larry Woods did a good job of rebounding.

Jeffersonville Cagers Win at New Vienna

Hitting 40 per cent of their shots from the field and an amazing 70 per cent from the foul line, Jeffersonville's Tigers trounced the boys at New Vienna, 68 to 65, Tuesday night in a non-league game.

Jim Cook, hotter than a fire-cracker in the first half against the New Vienna zone defense, netted 24 points on 11 field goals in 16 shots and 2 free throws. After he had tallied 20 points in the first two periods, New Vienna went into a four - man zone with the fifth sticking to Cook like a leech. While that strategy checked Cook, it left his mates open for more shots.

John Davis, who went in the game in the third period, got 8 points, all on free throws. When New Vienna put on an all - court press, he was fouled nine times and made good 8 of his charity tosses.

Cook and Dale Evans were especially effective under the boards, picking off one rebound after another.

Cooper and Baker posed a constant outside and inside threat against the Tiger zone defense. Cooper hit seven from the outside and Baker six from the inside.

Coach George Green described the win as a "team victory" and praised the Tigers for their aggressive spirit and determination. "With those two qualities," he said, "they'll come along and overcome the handicap of inexperience."

The Jeffersonville Reserves did not fare so well as their big brothers. They lost the preliminary, 46 to 27. Jim Bush led the attack with 12 points. One of the bright spots in the loss was the accuracy of the Tiger Reserves at the foul line. They made 11 of 15 free throws.

Program for Annual Meeting Developed by Pork Producers

The program for the annual meeting of the Fayette County Pork Producers Assn. was developed at the association's meeting Tuesday night in Anderson's Drive-in Restaurant.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. on Jan. 6 in the Farm Bureau auditorium. Dr. James A. McCoy will be the general chairman.

A number of headline speakers have been secured for this event. Dr. Mervin Smith, chairman of the Rural Economics Department of Ohio State University, will speak on "Vertical Integration."

Dr. Marcus Hagard of Delphi, Ind., will speak on "Range Versus Confined Feeding of Hogs."

A panel with Phil Grover, county extension agent, as the moderator, will discuss current hog production and marketing.

Miss Isabelle Harner, Ohio Pork Queen, will take part in the program. She will be assisted by Sharon Smith, Fayette County's candidate for 1958, and Miss Gloria Chel and, former All Ohio Pork Queen. Refreshments and prizes will be a part of the meeting. Last year 125 were there.

THE DIRECTORS reviewed the report of the program committee for 1959 and adopted the following suggested program:

(1) Continue Swine Tours: In-county tour and out-county tour. (Purdue - Canada).

(2) Promote the Commercial Swine Show for 1959 with emphasis on greater attendance and on new features to give greater educational value, including carcass cut-out values.

(3) Promote the Ohio swine improvement program so that Fayette County may continue to be the leading county in providing litters to feeding station and promote attendance at annual meeting.

(4) Plan attendance at the annual meetings of the Ohio Swine Improvement Assn. and Purebred Breed Assn. Swine Institute, Commercial Swine Assn., Swine Growers Council and others.

(5) Secure at least 10 per cent increase in 4-H pig club and FFA work in the county. Get more 4-H and FFA members to exhibit at the State Fair and the Spring Barrow Show at London and sponsor educational meetings.

(6) Continue holding a pork banquet in fall or picnic in 1959.

(7) Encourage more hog raisers to participate in the activities of the association.

(8) Encourage establishment of state livestock and meat committee.

(9) Support and promote the Ohio spring barrow show and banquet, Feb. 20-21.

(10) Investigate possibility of improved selling and grading, including selling at 200 to 220 pound weights.

(11) Advocate the possibility of

Violations of Law Cost 3 Hunters $88

It cost three hunters a total of $88 to break the law Tuesday.

Two of them were fined $10 and costs (of $9) in Municipal Court Wednesday for hunting on the G. B. Vance farm on the Old Springfield Rd. without permission. They were Otis Lacey Sr., 56, of 313 Fountain St., and Don R. Smith, 27, Old Springfield Rd. They were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Charles Hays and both pleaded guilty when arraigned before Judge Max G. Dice.

The third hunter, Ray Downs, 30, Cherry Fork, forfeited a $50 bond for shooting from a highway in Paint Township. He was arrested by Game Protector Dave Krupis.

In the only other case on the day's docket, Ralph G. Dunn, 29, Cincinnati, drew a fine of $5 and costs for speeding in the city.

(12) Promote National Swine Industry Conference.

(13) Have established an isolation laboratory at Reynoldsburg for scientific study of serious swine diseases. Also secure more swine research on state and national level.

COUNTY AGENT W. W. Montgomery reported that he would attend a meeting at the Experiment Station in Wooster Dec. 10 where there will be further discussion on the report of the research committee in developing the swine program for the Western Ohio Research Farm at South Charleston. The Experiment Station will start work on this research farm after Mar. 1, Robert Owens of Jefferson township, is a member of the research committee, representing the Ohio Swine Growers Council.

A report on his recent trip in the cotton and rice territory of the South was made by Montgomery. He showed samples of the rice as it was combined from the field.

Rural Bus Situation

sideration The Miami Trace Local Board of Education has determined that on Nov. 25, Nov. 26 and Dec. 2, certain Miami Trace School buses were deliberately followed throughout their entire route while engaging in the officially assigned duty of picking up and transporting students. This surveillance was without official knowledge of the Miami Trace Board and was engaged in without warning or notification by person or persons some of whom were unknown to the drivers of said buses or any other official of the Miami Trace Local School District.

"The reason or reasons these citizens had for conducting themselves in this manner were, at the time, known only to themselves and such is the case as of this moment so far as the Miami Trace Board or any official of the district is concerned. Whatever the motives, there are certain well defined results of which the Miami Trace Board wishes to take official note at this time. Namely,

"(1) Students were emotionally disturbed causing them to conduct themselves in such a manner as to place an additional burden on the driver of the bus.

"(2) The manner in which this surveillance was accomplished constituted an additional and unnecessary source of mental stress to the driver of the bus.

"(3) School officials and teachers (some of whom are parents) who were in closest contact with these incidents were deeply disturbed due to the fact that they feel the welfare and safety of the student from the time he or she boards the bus in a large measure theirs.

"The responsibility of driving a loaded bus is heavy enough without having additional strain placed upon the driver by acts of harassment. The Miami Trace Board therefore views these acts of surprise surveillance as an additional and unnecessary hazard to the safety and well being of those students involved. The Miami Trace Board suggests, as soon as the driver of a bus realizes he is being deliberately followed by, so far as he knows, persons who are unauthorized to do so by either The Board of Education or executive head that (1) he cause the State Highway Patrol or the sheriff's office to be promptly notified and ask that a representative of such law enforcement agency proceed immediately to the scene for an investigation of the situation; (2) the principal of the building at the destination of the route also be notified of the situation.

"The board further suggests that the driver proceed with extreme caution until either the cause of the annoyance has been removed or the officer has completed his investigation."

THE BOARD took its action at a special meeting attended by more than a dozen rural district bus drivers and approximately 40 aroused parents and school officials.

Most of the bus drivers agreed that the persons following their vehicles seemed to be breaking no traffic laws, although one said that he was slowed down by one car which moved at a crawl in front of him for some distance, and another reported that he was passed a number of times on a narrow stretch of country road, creating what he termed a "nuisance."

Questioned intensively by board members, a majority of the bus drivers said that their attention was distracted by the cars following them since, as several put it, "safety of operation makes

TB Fund Receiving Few Contributions

Only 1,393 of the 5,000 recipients of Christmas Seals in Fayette County have contributed to the county Tuberculosis and Health Assn. fund since receiving their seals, officials said Wednesday.

Purchase of the seals helps support free chest X-rays and the county's seven patients currently in hospitals with the disease, the officials said.

The contributions also are used for TB research, health and medical education, rehabilitation and nursing education.

it necessary that we keep an eye on cars behind us as well as approaching traffic."

One driver said that a man who followed him told him that the bus could run through red lights if the driver wished to do so — that the follower was only interested in surveying the route.

A number of the drivers said that children on the buses were conscious of being followed, that some of them crowded to the rear of the vehicle and that the drivers had more than the usual disciplinary problem.

SEVERAL MOTHERS said that their children were "excited" when they arrived home, and one mother added that "apparently the people who are following our buses are the same ones who are holding off the remedy to our bus problems." She was referring to the group which has blocked construction of the proposed Miami Trace High School at Eber.

Cris Cross, chairman of the Miami Trace Majority Taxpayers Committee, a group dedicated to getting the new high school built, termed the practice of following buses "a police state method," adding that any information regarding bus routes is readily available to the public at the Miami Trace office.

He criticized the failure on the part of those trailing the buses to notify the board office, school officials and, in most cases the bus drivers themselves, of their intentions.

"Surely this is beyond the bounds of propriety," he said.

ONE BOARD MEMBER said that he had had more than two dozen calls from parents, some of whom were angry and some of whom were apprehensive over the safety of their children.

"We cannot assume that everyone who deliberately follows a school bus is doing so with good intentions," one father suggested. "Such an assumption might play into the hands of criminals who prey on children," he declared.

The number of boy babies exceeds the number of girl babies in the United States. Even so, women live so much longer that there are more women than men in the U.S.

Sputnik Rocket Due To Die Today

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The Pullman-car-sized rocket of Sputnik III was expected to burn up and fall to the earth today.

Scientists at Smithsonian Astrophysical observatory said, indications were it would fall somewhere between central Europe and the Middle East.

The rocket has been orbiting since it fired Sputnik III into orbit last May 15. Sputnik itself is expected to continue circling the globe for another year because its more compact shape offers less atmospheric drag.

Smithsonian scientists said probably very little would remain of the carrier rocket as it hit the earth since it would burn up through friction on entering the earth's atmosphere.

Hiroshima A-Bombing Still Affects Japanese

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Japan still has many sick people as a result of the atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima in 1945, a Japanese scientist said Tuesday.

Dr. Takeo Nagamiya, professor of physics at Osaka University, told reporters that nuclear radiation from the A-bomb still is claiming lives. Nagamiya is here for a chemical research conference.

Special Venire Drawn For Highway Hearing

A special venire of 30 names was drawn in Common Pleas Court Wednesday morning in preparation for hearing on an ease with improvements at the Route 22 bridge site near New Holland, land.

A jury, to be selected from the venire, will place a value on property appropriated from McKinley Kirk and others to relocate the highway, and to assess damages to adjacent property.

State Highway Director Charles Noble, on Oct. 28, filed a resolution citing the necessity for appropriating a p p ximately two acres for the project.

Noble, who said the department was unable to purchase the land, deposited $7,213 with the court to cover his estimate of value and resultant damage.

MEMBERS of the special jury venire, ordered to report at 9 a. m. next Wednesday, are Charles B. Lutz, Bernard Matson, John Rolfe, Eva C. Allen, Thelma M. Minton, Fred O. Violations of Law Cost 3 Hunters $88

It cost three hunters a total of $88 to break the law Tuesday.

Two of them were fined $10 and costs (of $9) in Municipal Court Wednesday for hunting on the G. B. Vance farm on the Old Springfield Rd. without permission. They were Otis Looney Sr., 56, of 313 Fountain St., and Don R. Smith, 27, Old Springfield Rd. They were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Charles Hays and both pleaded guilty when arraigned before Judge Max G. Dice.

The third hunter, Ray Downs, 30, Cherry Fork, forfeited a $50 bond for shooting from a highway in Paint Township. He was arrested by Game Protector Dave Krupla.

In the only other case on the day's docket, Ralph G. Dunn, 29, Cincinnati, drew a fine of $5 and costs for speeding in the city.

Rural Bus Situation

sideration The Miami Trace Local Board of Education has determined that on Nov. 25, Nov. 26 and Dec. 2, certain Miami Trace School buses were deliberately followed throughout their entire route while engaging in the officially assigned duty of picking up and transporting students. This surveillance was without official knowledge of the Miami Trace Board and was engaged in without warning or notification by person or persons some of whom were unknown to the drivers of said buses or any other official of the Miami Trace Local School District.

"The reason or reasons these citizens had for conducting themselves in this manner were, at the time, known only to themselves and such is the case as of this moment so far as the Miami Trace Board or any official of the district is concerned. Whatever the motives, there are certain well defined results of which the Miami Trace Board wishes to take official note at this time, namely,

"(1) Students were emotionally disturbed causing them to conduct themselves in such a manner as to place an additional burden on the driver of the bus.

"(2) The manner in which this surveillance was accomplished constituted an additional and unnecessary source of mental stress to the driver of the bus.

"(3) School officials and teachers (some of whom are parents), who were in closest contact with these incidents were deeply disturbed due to the fact that they feel the welfare and safety of the student from the time he or she boards the bus in a large measure theirs.

"The responsibility of driving a loaded bus is heavy enough without having additional strain placed upon the driver by acts of harassment. The Miami Trace Board therefore views these acts of surveillance as an additional and unnecessary hazard to the safety and well being of those students involved. The Miami Trace Board suggests, as soon as the driver of a bus realizes he is being deliberately followed by, so far as he knows, persons who are unauthorized to do so by either The Board of Education or executive head that (1) he cause the State Highway Patrol or the sheriff's office to be promptly notified and ask that a representative of such law enforcement agency proceed immediately to the scene for an investigation of the situation; (2) the principal of the building at the destination of the route also be notified of the situation.

"The board further suggests that the driver proceed with extreme caution until either the cause of the annoyance has been removed or the officer has completed his investigation."

THE BOARD took its action at a special meeting attended by more than a dozen rural district bus drivers and approximately 40 aroused parents and school officials.

Most of the bus drivers agreed that the persons following their vehicles seemed to be breaking no traffic laws, although one said that he was slowed down by one car which moved at a crawl in front of him for some distance, and another reported that he was passed a number of times on a narrow stretch of country road, creating what he termed a "nuisance."

Questioned intensively by board members, a majority of the bus drivers said that their attention was distracted by the cars following them since, as several put it, "safety of operation makes it necessary that we keep an eye on cars behind us as well as approaching traffic."

One driver said that a man who followed him told him that the bus could run through red lights if the driver wished to do so—that the follower was only interested in surveying the route.

A number of the drivers said that children on the buses were conscious of being followed, that some of them crowded to the rear of the vehicle and that the drivers had more than the usual disciplinary problem.

SEVERAL MOTHERS said that their children were "excited" when they arrived home, and one mother added that "apparently the people who are following our buses are the same ones who are holding off the remedy to our bus problems." She was referring to the group which has blocked construction of the proposed Miami Trace High School at Eber.

Cris Cross, chairman of the Miami Trace Majority Taxpayers Committee, a group dedicated to getting the new high school built, termed the practice of following buses "a police state method," adding that any information regarding bus routes is readily available to the public at the Miami Trace office.

He criticized the failure on the part of those trailing the buses to notify the board office, school officials and, in most cases the bus drivers themselves, of their intentions.

"Surely this is beyond the bounds of propriety," he said.

ONE BOARD MEMBER said that he had had more than two dozen calls from parents, some of whom were angry and some of whom were apprehensive over the safety of their children.

"We cannot assume that everyone who deliberately follows a school bus is doing so with good intentions," one father suggested. "Such an assumption might play into the hands of criminals who prey on children," he declared.

TB Fund Receiving Few Contributions

Only 1,393 of the 5,000 recipients of Christmas Seals in Fayette County have contributed to the county Tuberculosis and Health Assn. fund since receiving their seals, officials said Wednesday.

Purchase of the seals helps support free chest X-rays and the county's seven patients currently in hospitals with the disease, the officials said.

The contributions also are used for TB research, health and medical education, rehabilitation and nursing education.

Special Venire Drawn For Highway Hearing

A special venire of 30 names was drawn in Common Pleas Court Wednesday morning in preparation for hearing on an ease with improvements at the Route 22 bridge site near New Holland, land.

A jury, to be selected from the venire, will place a value on property appropriated from McKinley Kirk and others to relocate the highway, and to assess damages to adjacent property.

State Highway Director Charles Noble, on Oct. 28, filed a resolution citing the necessity for appropriating approximately two acres for the project.

Noble, who said the department was unable to purchase the land, deposited $7,213 with the court to cover his estimate of value and resultant damage.

MEMBERS of the special jury venire, ordered to report at 9 a. m. next Wednesday, are Charles B. Lutz, Bernard Matson, John Rolfe, Eva C. Allen, Thelma M. Minton, Fred O. Cline, Willard Lampe, Paul Lipschutz, Janet Pope, Judith A. Speakman, Clark Pennsly, Ruth E. Jamison, Fred L. Gray, Herman Gosney, Foster Jenkins, Don V. Morris, Bernice Rumer, Anna Lois Clarke, Everett Milstead;

Sputnik Rocket Due To Die Today

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The Pullman-car-sized rocket of Sputnik III was expected to burn up and fall to the earth today.

Scientists at Smithsonian Astrophysical observatory said, indications were it would fall somewhere between central Europe and the Middle East.

The rocket has been orbiting since it fired Sputnik III into orbit last May 15. Sputnik itself is expected to continue circling the globe for another year because its more compact shape offers less atmospheric drag.

Smithsonian scientists said probably very little would remain of the carrier rocket as it hit the earth since it would burn up through friction on entering the earth's atmosphere.

Hiroshima A-Bombing Still Affects Japanese

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Japan still has many sick people as a result of the atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima in 1945, a Japanese scientist said Tuesday.

Dr. Takeo Nagamiya, professor of physics at Osaka University, told reporters that nuclear radiation from the A-bomb still is claiming lives. Nagamiya is here for a chemical research conference.
